Dignitaries Break Ground At Farm Show

A groundbreaking ceremony was conducted on the Farm Show Complex parking lot Thursday afternoon to celebrate the $76 million renovation and expansion project. More than 200 representatives of a variety of agricultural industries and agencies attended. Lt. Gov. Mark Schweiker, center, noted that Pennsylvania "makes products for the planet — a profound obligation." He pointed to the complex as something "to enhance the visitor experience" of those who attend Farm Show and other events. Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture Sam Hayes, far right, is joined by area 4-H and FFA members, of which he noted the state is building "something they will be able to use in their profession of agriculture." At far left is Dennis Grumbine, Farm Show executive director. Read more about the complex in the center spread, pages A22-23. Photo by Andy Andrews, editor

Somerset Farm Family Close To Tragedy

DAVE LEFEVER
Lancaster Farming Staff

ROCKWOOD (Somerset Co.) — On the morning of Sept. 11, Luke Svonavec, 19, was several miles from home, doing chores on the beef farm where he has a part-time job.

On the radio he heard the news that airliners had crashed into the World Trade Center.

A short while later, he stepped out of the barn with another worker as they moved on to their next task.

A few miles away, across the fields, they noticed a swath of black smoke and dust that appeared to be several hundred yards wide.

Even though "we thought it looked peculiar," Svonavec said smoke is not an unusual sight in coal-mining regions like this one.

"We really didn't think there was a connection (with the news on the radio)," he said. "We really didn't think anything like

Pa. Ag Secretary Invites Livestock Exhibitors To KILE

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Pennsylvania Agriculture Secretary Sam Hayes invites all livestock breeders and enthusiasts to join him for the 45th annual Keystone International Livestock Exposition (KILE), Oct. 2-8 at the Pennsylvania Farm Show Complex, Harrisburg.

"The Keystone International Livestock Exposition is one of the premier livestock shows in the nation. Animals from across the U.S. and Canada will travel to Harrisburg to compete in the beef cattle, swine, sheep, and horse events. I encourage all livestock breeders to plan to show at KILE in October," Hayes said.

The Keystone International Livestock Exposition will host several regional and national competitions over the week long event. Many of the livestock on display are nationally recognized for type quality, breeding, production, and showmanship. KILE provides the opportunity for livestock breeders, livestock industry representatives, and enthusiasts to see some of the best animal genetics in the nation, exchange ideas, and advance the quality of the livestock industry.

Continuing to recognize the 45-year tradition of the genetic and type quality at KILE, Hayes pointed out that premium increases would be given for the breed champions and reserve breed champions for each species of livestock on display. Each champion and reserve champion will receive a $50 cash premium.

Anyone interested in receiving a premium list can contact the Farm Show Complex at (717) 787-2905.

Some of the best horse, sheep, cattle, and swine competitions will take place at the 2001 show. The Draft Horse show is a qualifying show for the North American Six Horse Hitch Classic Series, with top rated Six Horse Hitch Teams trying to qualify

The OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC — THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

FULL HARVEST MOON, OCT. 2

WHERE THE PROOF IS

In England, the first of October was the start of the pudding season, as the beef and suet Christmas puddings were begun One London establishment, Ye Olde Cheshire Cheese Inn, gave new dimensions and an old interpretation to this culinary stew, making a 50- to 80 pound pudding filled with steak gravy, wild larks, mushrooms and spices It was cooked for 16 hours If it sounds more like a pastry gone wild, you can only blame the inclusion of ye olde ale and other alcohol used for soaking the pudding Today, London's oldest restaurant is Rule's, established in 1798 by Thomas Rule Although you can still get classic game dishes at Rule's we're glad to see that their pudding ingredients list nuts, berries, toffee and treacle

TIP OF THE WEEK

Time to button up for the winter. Have you had the chimney cleaned?

APPLE-BLUEBERRY PUDDING

2 cups peeled and chopped apples
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons water
3 4 cup (1-1 2 sticks) butter
1 cup zwieback crumbs
2 cups blueberries dash of cinnamon
dash of salt
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Cook the apples and sugar with the water until soft Melt the butter and use a bit to grease a 2-quart baking dish Layer the dish with crumbs butter, apples, blueberries, cinnamon, and salt Repeat layers Bake for 30 minutes at 375°F Chill and serve with whipped cream

Makes 4 to 6 servings

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

ATTENTION, GARDENERS!

The fall 2001 Gardener's Companion is on sale You can buy it at supermarkets bookstores, or garden centers Or send $3 99 to The Old Farmer's Almanac Dept GCSU P O Box 520, Dublin, NH 03444

Daily National Grain Market Summary

St. Joseph, MO
Report Supplied By USDA

Daily National Grain Market Summary

Wheat and corn bids were slightly higher but soybean bids plummeted for the fourth consecutive day. Wheat steady to steady to 6 cents higher except Minneapolis 1 cent lower. Corn 1 to 2 cents higher. Sorghum 2 cents higher Soybeans 2 to 9 cents lower except Illinois 1 to 4 cents higher

Improved export interest this week offered some strength to wheat bids. Traders seem optimistic about the pick up in exports and hope for higher prices Good winter wheat weather is limiting gains. Corn bids showed some firmness due to the recent drop in temperatures across the Corn Belt as frost was reported in places. Harvest progress and dry weather, however, kept advances down. Soybean bids fell sharply again, as good harvest weather and some fund selling on the Board undermined bids. The substantial overnight export sale of soybeans offered light support. Traders await Friday's quarterly stocks report.

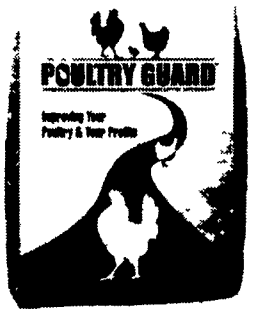
POULTRY GUARD™
LITTER AMENDMENT

New Poultry Guard™ Litter Amendment is a unique activated clay that delivers consistent ammonia control without the handling inconvenience associated with other poultry litter treatments.

Unlike these other treatments, Poultry Guard Litter Amendment is easy and convenient to apply and needs no incorporation or activation Fewer application variables mean more consistent performance In addition, Poultry Guard can be applied up to five days before bird set, whenever it's convenient for the grower



Using Poultry Guard Litter Amendment Is As Simple As...

Apply
Simply spread over poultry litter.
- No incorporation
- No moisture activation
- No complicated instructions for heating and ventilation in conjunction with application

Bird Set
Poultry Guard can be applied when it's most convenient, up to five days before bird set.
- No application timing headaches between clean out and bird set
- No last minute application after equipment has been lowered

Control Ammonia
Poultry Guard will deliver immediate and long-term ammonia control and give birds a healthier growing environment.
- No more dangerously high levels of ammonia to stunt growth

You be the judge! We are confident this litter amendment will improve your poultry and your profits.

Pa.'s 'International' Farm Show

Beginning next Tuesday, Oct. 2 and continuing to Oct. 8, the Keystone International Livestock Exposition (KILE) kicks off its 45th year at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg.

The show is recognized nationally as a showcase of the nation's top beef cattle, swine, sheep, and horses.

A lot of people, editor included, believe this is our "national" and truly "international" Farm Show. Because it is open to exhibitors from all over the country, there is an eclectic mix of breed genetics, of show personalities, of the wondrous beliefs that provide a common weave among those who live and promote agriculture.

While the state Farm Show general rules category, paragraph 3, clearly states that all exhibits must have been "grown, made, or fashioned in Pennsylvania," for KILE, instead, exhibitors can grow, make, or fashion those same exhibits from all over the country even the world.

More than 4,100 entries are expected for this year's KILE, which will offer a record $200,000 in premiums.

2001 has been designated the "Year of the Sheep," and promoters have notified us that "sheep exhibitors will receive special attention as part of the effort to increase public awareness of the sheep industry," according to a release. The breeds include Cheviot, Columbia, Corriedale, Dorset, Hampshire, Merino, Montadale, Oxford, Rambouillet, Shropshire, Southdown, Suffolk, and Tunis.

For beef exhibitors, KILE is a Simmental "Progress Through Performance" show and is the Eastern Regional Hereford Classic Show. Other breeds are similarly spotlighted, as well as the state's dynamic equine industry. Swine will be represented by eight different purebred breeds, in additional to junior barrows. Other major youth-oriented and breed events are planned as well.

Hundreds of collegiate, FFA, and 4-H students from several states participate in KILE. And a "tantalizing assortment of foods prepared by various Pennsylvania commodity groups," according to the release, will be available.

For more information, contact Beverly Gruber, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Livestock Association, in New Tripoli at (610) 767-5026.

To Be Safe, Courteous When Moving Farm Equipment On The Highway

Harvest season means that there will be a lot of farm equipment moving on our highways in the weeks ahead. In recent years, traffic volumes have increased and farm equipment has increased in size, and this is a recipe for potential problems. One can reduce the potential hazards by following some common-sense guidelines.

First make sure all lights are working on your equipment. Replace any missing, damaged or faded slow-moving vehicle emblems on the back of each piece of equipment. Only move your equipment during daylight hours. Although weather can disrupt the best made plans, arrange your work as much as possible so your equipment can be moved over the road during these hours.

Finally be courteous and pull over to let the cars behind you pass whenever the shoulder of the road is wide enough. When the line behind you gets long, impatient drivers following you may try to pass at unsafe locations such as on a hill or around a curve. While any resulting accidents may be the unsafe drivers fault, you could find yourself in a very dangerous situation. It is true that the opportunities to pull over are rather limited for our largest equipment. However, I have followed farmers who didn't pull over for many miles even though there was some opportunities to do so. This creates a bad image for agriculture and could put the operator of the farm equipment at unnecessary risk when trailing vehicles attempt to pass.

To Be Aware Of Pest Management Information Center

Change is a constant in the pest management industry. It is a time consuming task to try to keep up with the many changes in this business. The Penn State Pest Management Information Center maintains an information network to keep Pennsylvanians up to date on changes affecting the industry in our state.

Staff at the center monitor EPA actions published in the federal register, trade publications, and Websites to keep up with changes, which could affect Pennsylvania's pest managers. The information is made available in user-friendly format and published in newsletters, on the Center's Website and through an e-mail network.

The Center also cooperates with and supports the Pennsylvania Integrated Pest Management Program's efforts to provide a variety of pest management recommendations at a central Website location. The university's pest information resources are compiled into 18 categories and can be found at the Website under "IPM Problem Solvers at Penn State." This information can be found at the Pennsylvania IPM homepage (http://paipm.cas.psu.edu/) or at the Pest Management Information Center homepage (http://pested.psu.edu/infocenter/). For more information, contact the Center's manager, Bill Hoffman, at (814) 865-1074 or wjh100@psu.edu.

To Control Grain Storage Pests

As we enter the harvest season it is important to be aware of the losses that insects pests can cause in your operation. Robert Anderson, Lancaster County agronomy agent, reports that it is estimated more than $31.5 million worth of farm-stored grain is lost each year because of pests in storage.

Once grain in storage is infested, it is very difficult and costly to treat. Anderson suggests that the old saying, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," is true with stored grain pests. The ounce of prevention for preventing problems in farm-stored grains include a thorough cleaning of the storage facility, a residual pesticide on the storage structure, and an insecticide treatment of the grain as it is put into storage for an extended period.

Anderson offers the following advice on controlling insect pests in stored grain. The first step is the thorough cleaning of the storage facility. This is a key item and perhaps an area often overlooked. It is necessary to clean the walls, floor, ceiling, and any ledges where grain or grain dust will accumulate and harbor insect pests.

Don't overlook those areas under vented flooring or vent ducts when cleaning. Old grain left anywhere in or around the storage facility could be harboring insects or insect eggs, which can infest the new grain. When cleaning grain bins, a little extra care will pay off. Don't forget to clean the area surrounding the storage facility. Piles of old grain, tall weeds, or contaminated feedbags are a few things to be looking for. Another important cleaning job is the harvesting and handling equipment. Old grain or grain dust in combines, wagons, or trucks can re-infest cleaned bins.

After a good cleaning, spray the storage area with a residual spray material. The number of pesticides listed for such use is limited but those on the list do a good job at a reasonable cost and are safe to work with. Don't forget to spray below those false floors. For a list of registered pesticides for use in grain storage facilities, check the Penn State Agronomy Guide. Before using any of the listed materials, always read and follow the label. Labels do change from time to time; the label on the product you buy should have the latest proper use and safety precaution needed.

Finally, if the grain will be stored for an extended time-period, spray the grain as it is put into storage. Consult the Agronomy Guide for the latest recommended products and follow the directions on those products. In addition to proper cleaning of structures, proper harvesting will go a long way in insuring the storage of grains on the farm. Adjust equipment to eliminate the breaking of grain kernels and the removal of dust. Broken grain kernels and grain dust increase the risk of molds and some insect pest damage.

Quote of the Week:

"I'm a great believer in luck, and I find the harder I work the more I have of it."

— Thomas Jefferson

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

FOR YOUR SAKE

Background Scripture:
John 11:1-44.
Devotional Reading:
John 11:17-27.

In the story of Lazarus, there are some interesting uses of the word "love." The first of these is when word first reaches Jesus about the illness of his friend Lazarus. The sisters of Lazarus — Mary and Martha — send Jesus this message: "Lord, he whom you love is ill" (11:3). It would have been enough to simply tell Jesus that Lazarus was seriously ill, but Mary and Martha remind Jesus that he loves Lazarus.

They are presuming upon the special friendship which their family has enjoyed with Jesus. Isn't that a bit like our prayers — we remind God of something we know he already knows. We don't have to tell him all these things, but we put them in for emphasis.

The second reference to the love of Jesus comes when he arrives in Bethany and goes to the tomb of Lazarus. He is deeply moved by the weeping of Mary and some of the other mourners. When they show him the tomb of Lazarus, John tells us simply: "Jesus wept. So the Jews said, 'See how he loved him!' But some of them said, 'Could not he who opened the eyes of the blind man have kept his man from dying?'" (11:35-37). Jesus wept, not at the death of Lazarus — for he intended to raise him — but because he was moved by the grief of Mary and Martha.

If Jesus Loves Us . . .

It is a fair question, isn't it? If Jesus loves us, then why doesn't he keep us from disabling illness and even death itself? Why do we have to suffer tragedy and loss?

But, as we have previously noted, God does not always save us from our crosses but on them. Jesus did not come into the world to raise millions of the dead as he raised Lazarus. He came, rather, to make us victors over death.

Raising Lazarus from the dead was a sign pointing to the truth that Jesus is Lord of both the living and the dead. In raising Lazarus from his tomb, Jesus is assuring us that "I am the resurrection and the life; he who believes in me, though he die, yet shall he live . . ." (11:25).

The delay of Jesus at the news of Lazarus' illness was an opportunity to demonstrate a greater level of love. He delayed, not despite the fact that he loved Lazarus, but because he loved him. Sometimes God, in his infinite wisdom, knowing what we cannot know or understand, seems to delay in responding to our need. We see it as a lack of response to our prayers, but that is simply because we see only the short-run picture.

As Martha and Mary said to Jesus, "Lord, if you had been here, my brother would not have died," so we reproach our Lord because we think he has ignored or refused our plea. But the delay, although it may frustrate and discourage us, may, like the death and raising of Lazarus, ultimately be to the glory of God and his son Jesus. That is why Jesus told his disciples, "Lazarus is dead; and for your sake I am glad that I was not there, so that you may believe" (11:14,15).

Let Us Also Go

It is interesting to note the various reactions to Jesus' mysterious delay.

Realizing that going up to Jerusalem probably means great danger, Thomas, with more courage than faith, says to the disciples: "Let us also go, that we may die with him" (11:16). Not understanding how it would play out did not deter Thomas from committing himself to go with Jesus. Are there not times when we need to be able to do as Thomas did?

When Jesus arrives in Bethany, Martha greets Jesus with a hardly disguised reproach: "Lord, if you had been here, my brother would not have died" (11:21). When Jesus went to the tomb of Lazarus, Mary met him with the same complaint. Are there not times when we want to say something similar?

Mary's reaction at the tomb is also rather remarkable. She and Martha were obviously looking for a miraculous raising of Lazarus even at this late date — but when Jesus tells her: "Take away the stone" (11:30), Mary is reluctant: "Lord, by this time there will be an odor, for he has been dead four days" (11:39). Isn't it strange how we can be both so trustful and distrustful in the same situation?

It is for our sake that God may not answer our prayers in the way that we ask or in the time that we ask — but he does love us and he does answer.

Forward Pricing Critical To Corn Growers' Economic Survival

ANDY ANDREWS
Editor

HOLTWOOD (Lancaster Co.) — "You can no longer put corn in a bin and wait on prices," said Ann Risser, Risser Grain

Risser, who with her family are celebrating 25 years in the grain elevator business, are trying to spread the word about the realities of grain buying and selling

Farmers need to "have a marketing plan," Risser said, including simple forward pricing

Ann, with husband Mark and son Brent and Brent's wife, Debbie, operate a grain business with three locations, serving about 2,500 customers

With headquarters in Holtwood, the grain business picks up and delivers grain to areas in Lancaster, York and other southeast Pennsylvania counties, all of Maryland, and into New York

At Holtwood, all 150 till able acres are rented

Late last year, the location housed two piles of grain overflow Both covered one pile included 200,000 bushels or 11 million pounds of corn

Another when it was piled included about 50,000 bushels The corn is on top of a 120-foot square concrete pad and covered by a heavy plastic bunker cover

Storage at the Holtwood location, noted Brent Risser, is more than 550,000 bushels They can store 250,000 bush-

Crop Winners Announced At Keystone Farm Show

ANDY ANDREWS
Editor

YORK (York Co.) — Winners of the Pennsylvania Five-Acre Corn Club Contest were announced here at the York Fairgrounds in mid-January during the annual Keystone Farm Show

Dan Wolf, president of the Pennsylvania Master Corn Growers Association (PMCGA), noted that of the 103 entries in the corn contest, there were some "notable differences," he said, in cultural practices compared to the 1999 contest. Only 7 of 91 growers used cultivation, with most growers using 30-inch row spacing The second highest spacing was 38 inches apart

Wolf noted it is "hard to find significant differences in yield to favor one type of tillage over another," he told those attending the awards presentation at the fairgrounds

About 44 percent of the contestants use sidedress nitrogen. Average planting depth was 1 7 inches Corn acres grown by participants numbered 24,242

For the most part, the year was substantially different in terms of total yield, a vast improvement from the statewide drought of the previous summer "Some don't appreciate how good of a year it was," Wolf said

When calves
MOVE OUT, don't give PNEUMONIA time to move in.

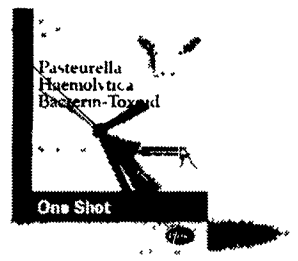
When calves move out of the hutch, stress gives pneumonia a door to move in. So act fast to protect them, with One Shot®. One Shot is the only Pasteurella vaccine that builds a significant leukotoxin response to the most common cause of bacterial pneumonia within just 7 days[1]. A response that's faster and stronger than Pyramid®4/Presponse®[1]. That means less lung damage[2]. And healthy animals are more productive. Ask your veterinarian or animal health supplier about One Shot or One Shot Ultra™, the only Pasteurella/blackleg combination.



Get ahead of the clock—take your best shot before pneumonia does.

One Shot Ultra™

HERCULITE Heavy Duty Black-Out Tunnel, Dairy & Poultry Curtains
The experts, engineers and veterinarians agree - the best building is a naturally ventilated building.
Herculite curtain systems offer state of the art, adjustable sidewalls Even when closed, the curtains allow for natural light and provide a snug environment.

The CURTAIN CONTROLLER
Utilizes a threaded drive and drive screw directly coupled to a heavy-duty, direct drive gear motor to activate the curtain. Thermostat and timer are available in a variety of curtain travel speeds.

Weekly Dairy Market Outlook

Ken Bailey
Penn State

Dairy Markets Steady Despite Tragedy

- CME cheese holding, butter weaker.
- August milk production down 0.8 percent.
- Economy likely in a recession.

The dairy markets are holding steady despite the awful tragedy that occurred last week. The economy literally came to a standstill as the FAA grounded all flights and consumers stayed home glued to the television sets. As of this week the markets for dairy commodities appear unchanged despite a bad economic outlook for much of the rest of the U.S. economy.

Cheese prices at the Chicago Mercantile Exchange actually strengthened a bit this week. Block prices rose from $1.72 per pound on Monday, Sept. 17 to $1.7250 on Friday, Sept. 21. Barrel cheese prices rose from $1.68 per pound on Monday to $1.6825 by Friday. USDA reported this week that cheese demand is moderate, but output is still limited because of the short milk supply.

Butter prices actually weakened a bit this week at the Chicago Mercantile Exchange. Grade AA butter prices fell from $2.1675 per pound on Monday to $2.07 by Friday. Butter prices are seasonally weakening because of reduced demand for cream from ice cream processors, increased supplies of cream from fluid processors, and a rebound in butterfat production because of cooler weather.

The price of Western nonfat dry milk is still above the CCC purchase price for nonfortified nonfat dry milk of $0.90 per pound. During the week of Sept. 17-21, the price of low/medium heat Western nonfat dry milk was $0.93-$0.95 per pound. Demand for domestic and export needs must be adequate since USDA reported there were no CCC purchases of nonfat dry milk under the dairy price support program during the week of Sept. 17-21.

Part of the reason dairy commodity and futures markets are showing little change in prices is because of the tight outlook for the milk supply. The USDA's August milk production report showed milk production for 20 major states was 11.8 billion pounds, down 0.8 percent compared to a year ago. Despite a slight increase in average milk production per cow (up 4 pounds from a year ago), cow numbers fell by 7,000 head from the month before to 7.74 million head. This was surprising since cow numbers had leveled out the past three months and milk prices have been very high.

The rest of the U.S. economy is not nearly as robust as the dairy industry. The Wall Street Journal reported today that the Dow Jones Industrial Average, a broad measure of the stock market, plunged 13 percent since the day before the trade center attacks. That means $1.2 trillion in stock market wealth has been wiped out. Clearly this has some implications for the future of the U.S. economy. That same article, titled "A New Recession Looms In the U.S.," cites a recent survey of economic forecasters. They expect the U.S. economy will slow down sufficiently this year to put us into a recession.

The U.S. government will attempt to combat both a war and the recession by increasing spending and considering additional tax cuts. The economy is not expected to rebound until sometime next year.

It is hard to argue that a recession will have any positive impact on the U.S. dairy industry. High unemployment, less business activity, and a reduction in consumer confidence all points to less spending in the general economy. However, the dairy industry is a lot more resilient than other sectors of the economy. Away-from-home sales of cheese and other dairy products may be substituted for more at-home sales. Thus the direct impact of an inevitable slowdown in the general economy is not clear for the dairy industry at this time.

Average Farm Feed Costs for Handy Reference

To help farmers across the state to have handy reference of commodity input costs in their feeding operations for DHIA record sheets or to develop livestock feed cost data, here's last week's average costs of various ingredients as compiled from regional reports across the state of Pennsylvania.

Remember, these are averages, so you will need to adjust your figures up or down according to your location and the quality of your crop.

Pasture Perfect® Dealer of the Week:
Advanced Agronomics

This week Ampac Seed Company and Rohrer Seeds recognize Advanced Agronomics of Quarryville, PA. Advanced Ag., a crop consulting firm, provides grower advisory services to forage, grain, vegetable, and fruit growers in southeastern PA. According to Leland Miller, owner of Advanced Ag., one of their primary objectives is helping dairy customers select and grow the best possible forages. To this end, Leland recently hired Agronomist Mark Rehak. With a background in the grass and forage seed business, Mark adds another dimension to the company's services. By combining Mark's on-farm expertise with the products and support of Rohrer Seeds, Advanced Ag. now provides growers with a complete Grazing Advisory Program which includes: 1) Careful Genetic Selection, 2) Advanced Plant Nutrition, 3) On Farm Services - including layout, scheduling, and pasture establishment and management.

Advanced Agronomics

"I am especially impressed with the Pasture Perfect® Mid-Atlantic Grazer Mix from Rohrer Seeds," states Mark. "Tekapo Orchardgrass is the key ingredient in this mixture, making it ideal for growers who do not have irrigation." Note: Mark advises growers reading this article in the fall to hold off seeding the Mid-Atlantic Grazer Mix until late winter or early spring. Other than small grains, only ryegrass and festulolium grasses such as Tonga, Abundant and Duo (components of Pasture Perfect® Renovator Special) can be planted this late in the year.

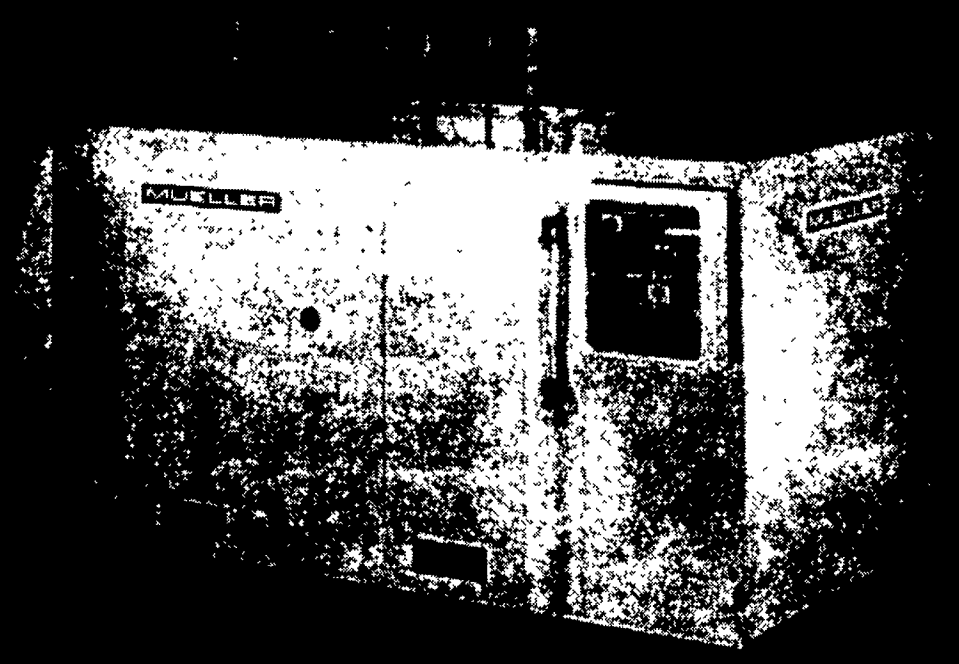
The Next Generation In Milk Cooling



It's new ... it's improved ... it's the next generation in chiller technology. Mueller's new and improved HS chiller is the most energy-efficient cooling system in the world. Compact in design, the HS chiller is easy to install in the smallest of spaces and it can be expanded as your cooling needs increase.

For instant cooling or additional cooling, the high-quality scroll compressor provides for lower electrical costs when cooling large quantities of milk. The HS chiller is the only chiller built specifically with the large dairy farmer in mind, and better yet, it's manufactured by Mueller.

Don't skip a generation. Call Mueller today at 1-800-MUELLER.

"The reliability of Mid-Atlantic's parts department makes them worthy of my recommendation."
- Dwayne Myers

"Our dairy farm has been in business for the past 50 years. We started buying our manure handling equipment from Mid-Atlantic AgriSystems about 12 to 15 years ago. We buy all of our manure tanks and agitator pumps from them and have been pleased with our purchases of Houle equipment, one of the best manufacturers on the market. I have remained a Mid-Atlantic customer over the years partly because of their high integrity, which I believe to be important in a company, but mainly for the high quality and value of the products they sell. The reliability of their parts department, as well, makes them worthy of my recommendation."

Farm Show Expansion, New Construction To Provide A 'World-Class Facility For Our World-Class Industry, Agriculture.'

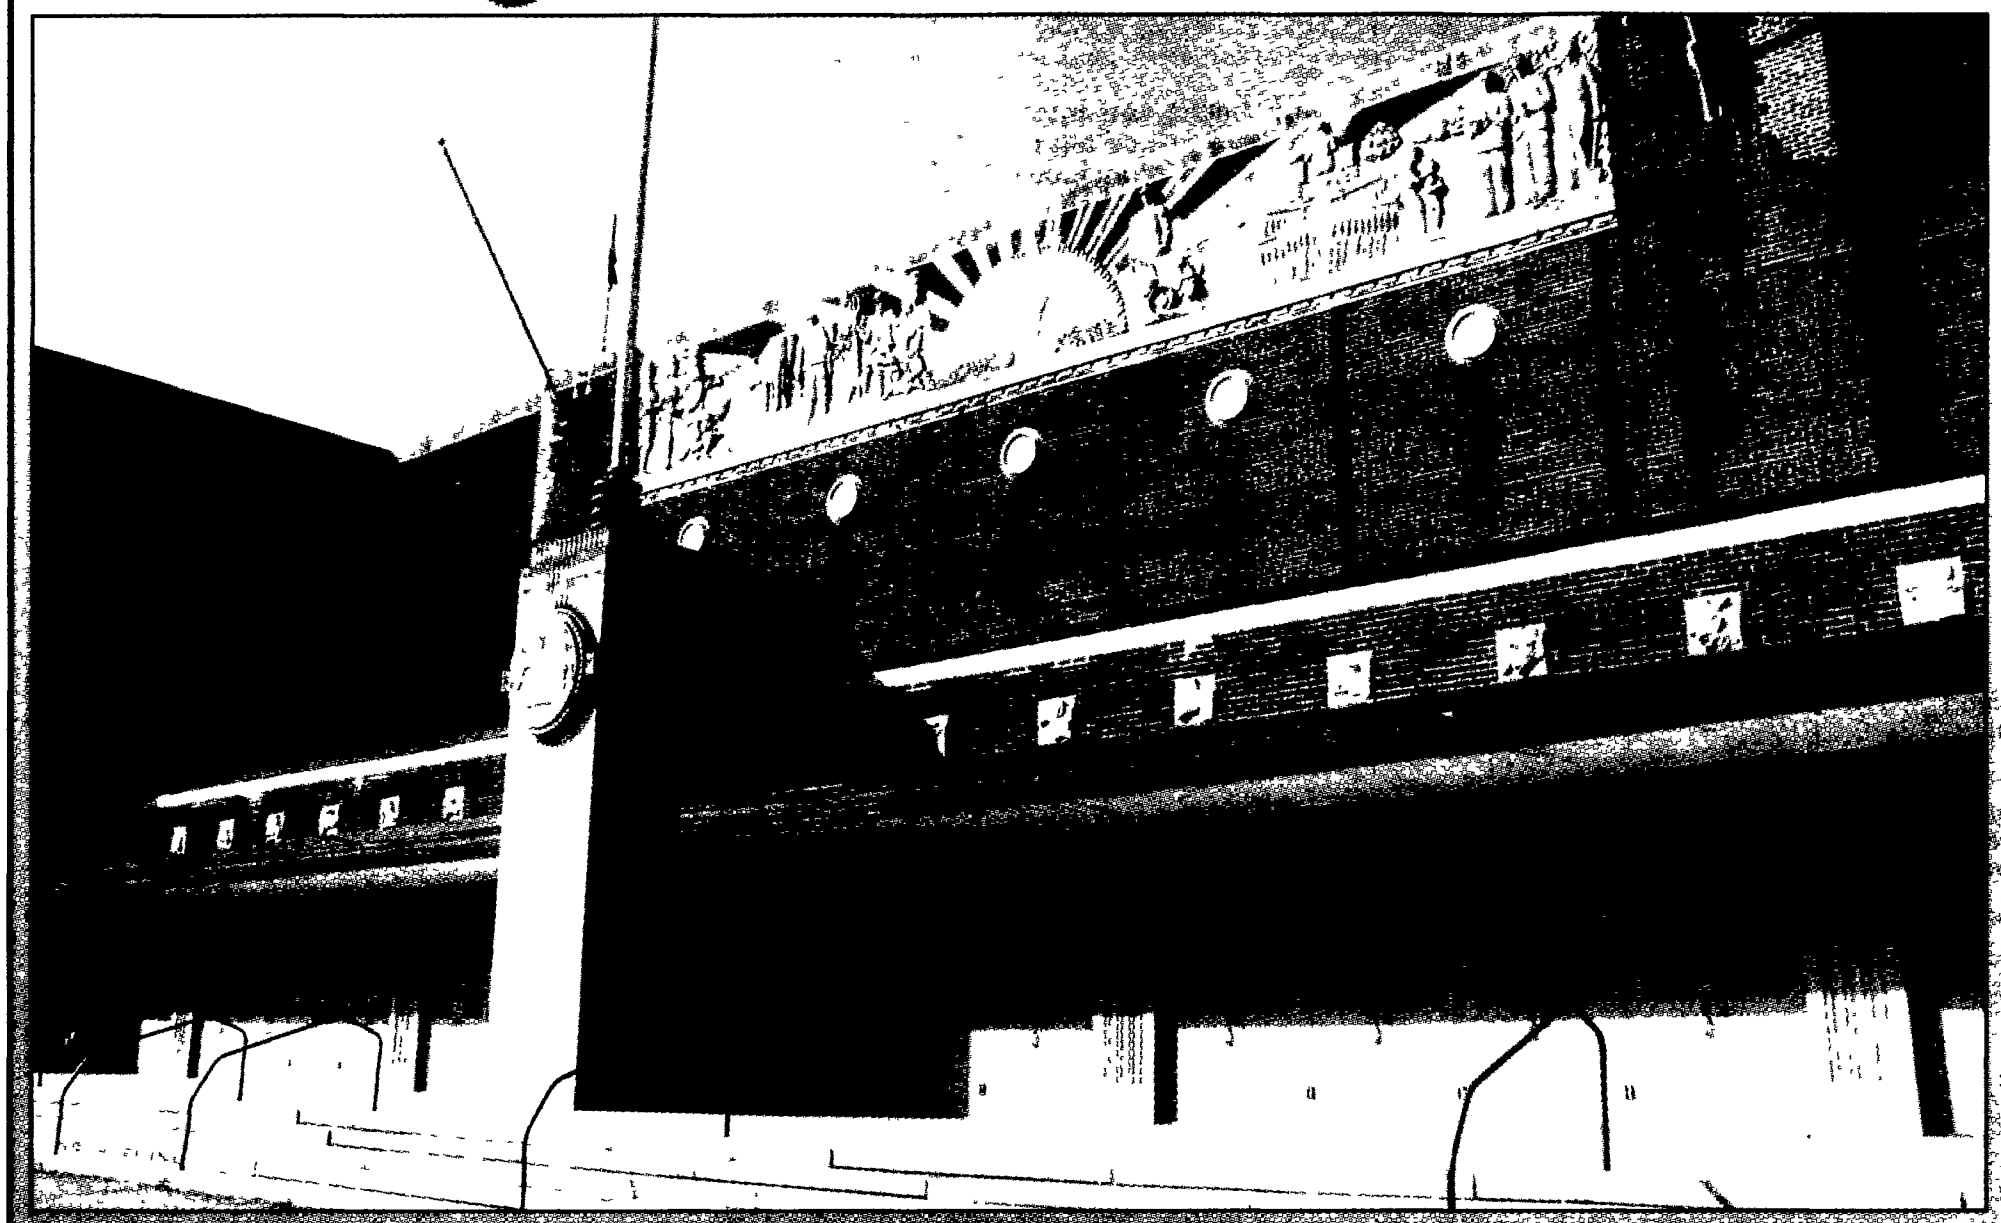
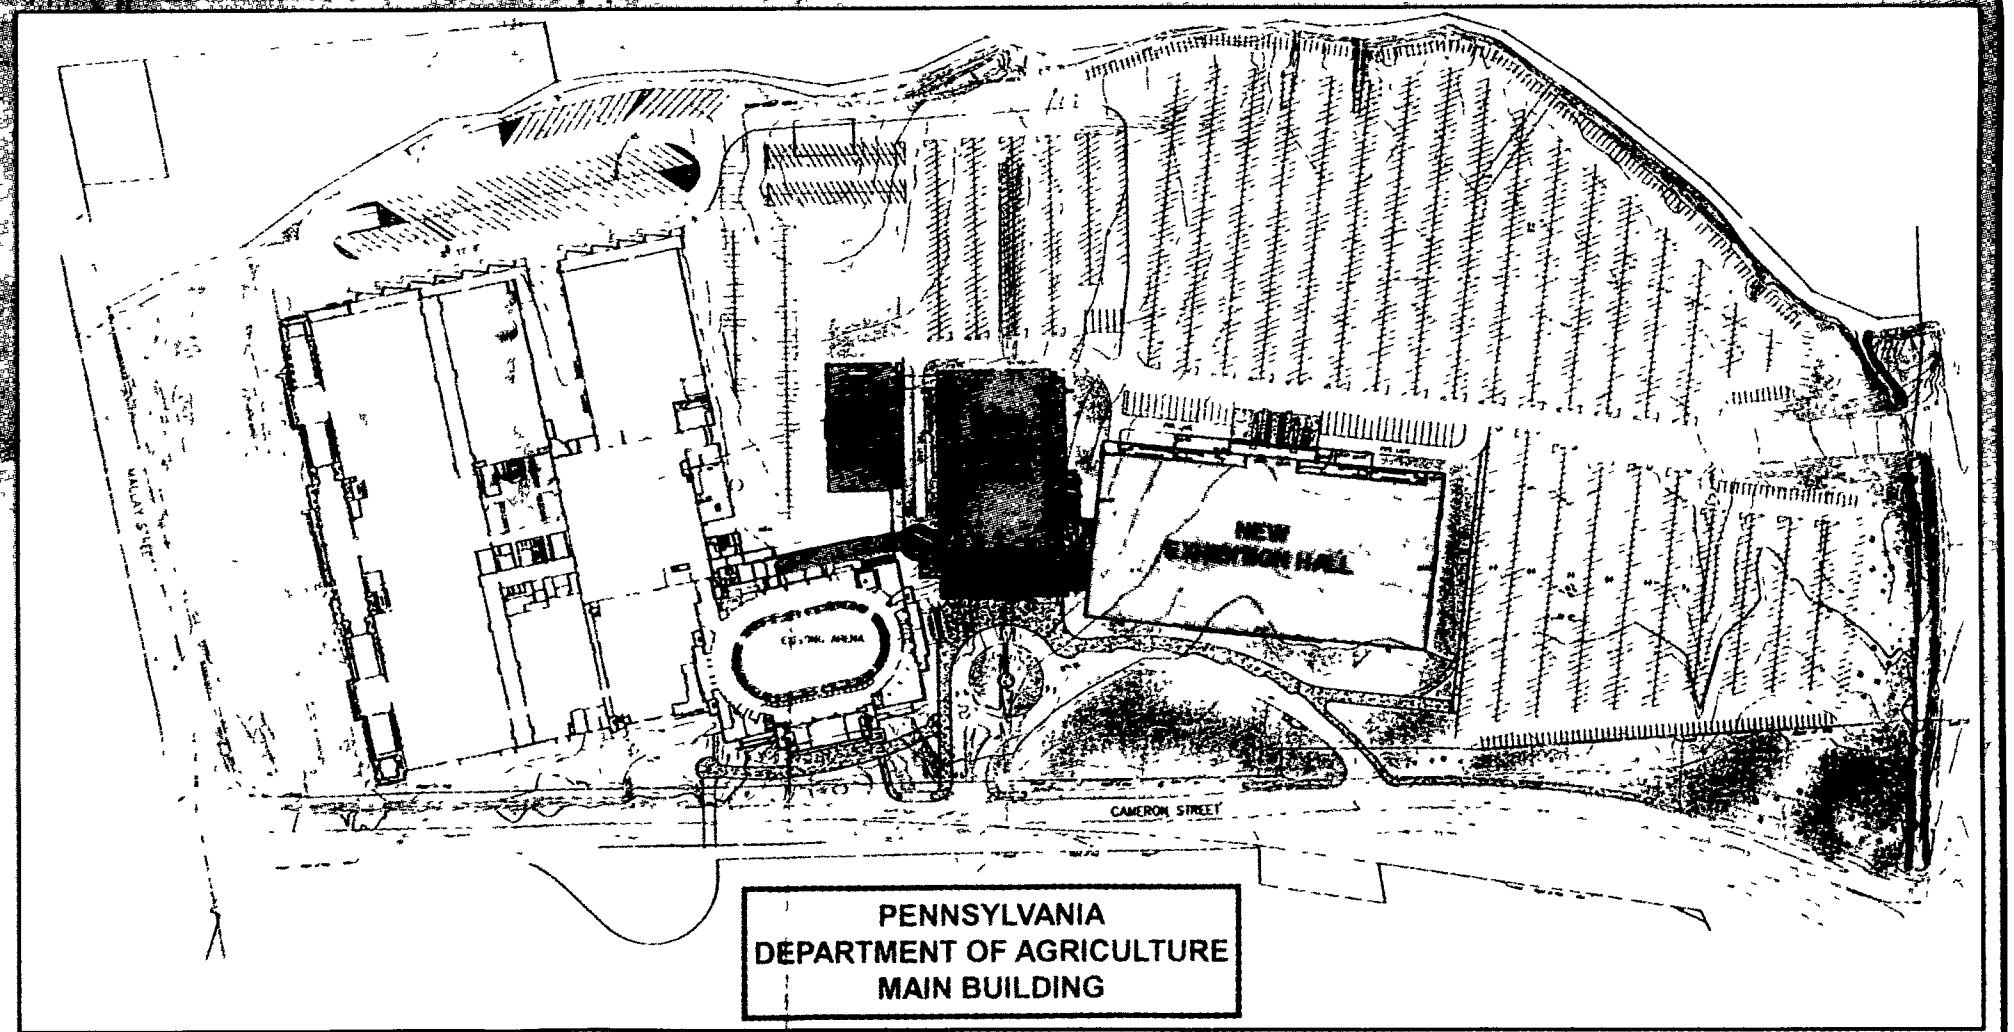
Pa. Secretary of Agriculture



The front of the current Farm Show Complex, shown in this undated file photo, is pictured in the Cameron Street entrance will be the site of a new [illegible] will be located just to the Large Arena, 32 feet

The Pennsylvania Farm Show Complex is getting an [illegible] big deal it's going to mean keeping the winter agriculture [illegible] event hosted by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture [illegible] Dominick, state farm equipment was great.

The new exhibition center will be located here on the main parking lot.



When completed for the Farm Show of 2003, the new Farm Show Complex will house 27 acres under one roof, including a large equine exhibit arena. An additional 359,000 square feet of booth and exhibition space for Farm show will also include a brand-new, Class A exhibit facility, with room for 1,100 10-foot by 10-foot booths with 10-foot alleyways. The exhibit building will measure 175,000 square feet. The exhibit facility, located to the north side of the Large Arena, will include the most updated technology and have quality-controlled air conditioning and heat. And doors in the new facility will measure 16 feet high by 24 feet wide to accommodate entryway for exhibit setup in the new building.

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — When there's talk of an upgrade worth about $76 million, that's big news.

During groundbreaking ceremonies Thursday afternoon, state dignitaries were on hand to celebrate the start of construction of a completely improved Farm Show Complex.

The Pennsylvania Farm Show Complex is getting an upgrade so big that it's going to make attending the winter agriculture showcase event hosted by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture surely a memorable, maybe even completely new, event.

For years, people have talked about making necessary improvements to the Farm Show Complex. But according to Farm Show Executive Director Dennis Grumbine, this is the first time "since '29 and '32 that anybody has made a financial commitment to doing something here," he said.

Before groundbreaking Thursday afternoon, Sam Hayes, state secretary of agriculture, noted that one of his goals when he became secretary of agriculture "was to undertake a project at the Farm Show complex that would provide a 21st century facility for agriculture," he said. "This project will accomplish this goal. This expansion and new construction will provide a world-class facility for our world-class industry, agriculture."

Hayes noted that the Ridge-Schweiker team and state lawmakers have said "yes to everything I have requested as secretary of agriculture. On behalf of Pennsylvania agriculture, I greatly appreciate their support."

In mid-July this year, Dennis Grumbine spoke to about two dozen exhibitor representatives and media about the expansion project.

He provided construction details and timetables on a complex that, when completed for the Farm Show of 2003, will house 27 acres under one roof, including a large equine exhibit arena.

An additional 359,000 square feet of booth and exhibition space for Farm show will also include a brand-new, Class A exhibit facility, with room for 1,100 10-foot by 10-foot booths with 10-foot alleyways. The exhibit building will measure 175,000 square feet. The exhibit facility, located to the north side of the Large Arena, will include the most updated technology and have quality-controlled air conditioning and heat. And doors in the new facility will measure 16 feet high by 24 feet wide to accommodate entryway for exhibit setup in the new building.

The old main hall exhibit building, measuring about 145,000 square feet, will house the family living center, now located upstairs in the Northeast Building. That Northeast Building area will be completely renovated to accommodate an upscale, ballroom-type banquet hall to accommodate 1,800 guests for "any livestock or equine event," said Grumbine.

A special equine arena will rival the Large Arena in scale, with a goal of 303 horse stalls. An additional $10 million was directed by Gov. Ridge early in June this year to construct the center.

A practice area may be included for horse exhibitors. There will be seating for 1,500-1,800 people.

A major ingredient — and a persistent challenge to the commission and Farm Show coordinators over the years — has been to separate the movement and passage of livestock and people, according to Grumbine. That has been accomplished by a special "spine" — a two-story, 30-foot-wide passage area connecting both the south and north ends of the entire complex.

The upper level of the spine will allow pedestrians to walk across the length of the complex and visit posted exhibit areas. The lower portion will be used to move livestock to various locations.

Also, where the Mac machine is located in the Cameron Street entrance, will be the site of a new lobby and entrance, which will bring Farm Show Complex visitors directly to the spine.

A "hole" will be punched out of the Large Arena, 32 feet wide by about 12 feet high, to allow equipment access to the arena, something the commission believed was past due.

The new equine arena, located in back of the new lobby, will include 150 by 300 feet of space for horse and other exhibits. That's larger than the existing Large Arena.

Fencing will be in place to start construction of the new exhibits area. As a result, parking at the site for Farm Show will be limited to exhibitors. Visitors to the complex for the 2002 Farm Show will be shuttled to a new parking lot, to be finished in the fall, south of Elmerton Avenue.

For an approximate $5 fee, visitors will be paying for shuttle service at various times to and from the parking lot to the Farm Show Complex for the 2002 Farm Show in January. There is room for about 2,150 vehicles at the new parking site.

"Parking and traffic have always been a problem for the Complex," Grumbine said. The 29 acres of offsite parking could offset those challenges. The parking will be fenced, gated, and macadamized.

The equine arena will begin construction shortly after the 2002 Farm Show. From June-August of 2002, the "spine" area will be constructed and finished by October 2002.

The commission expects all construction, with some minor checkups and adjustments, to be finished in time for the 2003 Farm Show.

Several areas, including the Large and Small arenas and the new complex improvements will be heated, air conditioned, and air quality controlled, noted Grumbine.

For the 2002 show, the commission is working with signage experts to allow spectators to park and take shuttles to the Farm Show.

"Ten major events will use this complex right out of the box," said Grumbine. "And the equine center is not just an equine center, but is open for other livestock."

Grumbine noted the importance of being competitive and drawing in the summer activities. There was a limit to sign-up for summer events because of a lack of air conditioning and air quality control.

As for the new complex, "We're pretty excited about it," Grumbine said. He noted the complex would be "able to accommodate any trade show or event in the world."

The Farm Show Complex already houses 211 events, bringing in $480 million in economic activity to the capitol region and $13.6 million in sales tax revenue.

Construction will provide a "close match" of the facility, in terms of brick and other materials. The new exhibits area is "offset" from the roadside to allow a glimpse to the existing, historical structure.

The budget has allowed the building to stable more than 3,000 horses in the complex.

"We want to make this new facility competitive," Grumbine said. "This will allow us to expand our show season in the summer months."

As a result, the possibility of stretching out the Farm Show over two weekends can be considered.

Complex offices will be relocated near the lobby on the second level of the "spine."

Even though the state Farm Show began in 1917, the actual building that now houses the event was not constructed until 1929. The building was dedicated on the opening day of the 1931 Farm Show. Between 1931-1993, the Farm Show Complex grew to its current size. Additions include the Large Arena in 1939, major renovations in the 1970s, and the Northeast Building in 1993.

Ephrata Sheep Show Features 98 Entries

LOU ANN GOOD
Food And Family Features Editor

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — For the seventh year in a row at the Ephrata Fair, grand champion breeding sheep honors went to the Zimmerman family, and, for the third year, market lamb honors went to Sarah Boyd.

The champion non-sale lamb was shown by Joelynn Donough and the reserve non-sale by Sarah Boyd. Holly Hoover, Denver, made her debut into the winner's circle by showing the reserve grand champion sale lamb named Spot.

Ed Keeny, York Southdown breeder, judged the 98 entries. In his selections, he stressed the importance of the total package. "To my way of thinking, the champion needs to have more than meat and muscle. The feet and legs go right into the package. Correctness is important traits to carry on," Keeny said.

Joelynn's middleweight, a homebred purebred Suffolk lamb fit his criteria. Of the lamb, Joellyn said, "I didn't really like her (Zanadi) in the beginning because I didn't think she had enough meat on her. But her mother was my favorite ewe."

The Donough family raises 20 brood ewes and 26-27 market lambs on their Manheim farm.

Jen Zimmerman showed a Southdown ram named Carter that was named the champion overall breeds. A consistent winner, she has shared the spotlight in the past seven years with her brothers Jay and Jimmy. The Zimmerman family operate Scenic View Farms, Denver.

Derrick Bollinger, 17, said the reserve champion over all breeds had been purchased at an Ohio sale. "It was smaller than most of the other lambs, but I saw it had potential. It has tight skin and good legs."

The Bollingers have 20 head at the Manheim farm.

In showmanship, Jen Zimmerman was named grand champion, and Joelynn Donough reserve champion. In the first year competition, Erik Nussbaum placed first, and Tim Seibert, second. In second- and third-year division, Krista Heinsey placed first and James Parker, second.

Here is a partial listing of results.

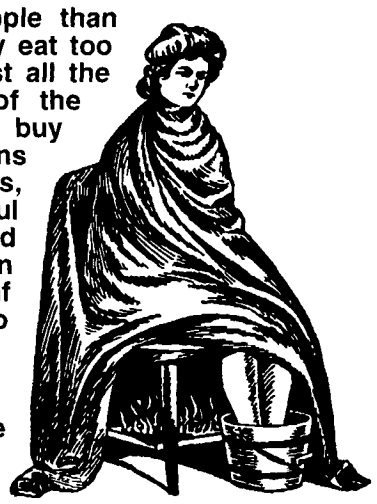
Why Be Sick And Tired?

America has more sick people than most countries, because they eat too much cooked food which lost all the enzymes and up to 80% of the nutrition. Most food you buy contains harmful toxins because they use weed killers, insecticides and many harmful chemicals in growing it, and then more chemicals in processing to increase shelf life. But there is a solution to the problem.



Be Healthy And Energetic?

May doctors and people are now using a new and safer way to remove toxins and poisons from the body, clean out the arteries and develop a strong immune system so it can fight off diseases with amazing results, without any drugs. This program supplies the immune system with killer cells, memory and suppresser cells activity and training, which is like manpower and equipment to any army. It provides the immune system with all natural, organically grown fruit, grain and vegetables" which is like good food and ammunition to an army.

Over 40 million dollars were spent in research, and over 3000 sheets of scientific documented studies by doctors supports many positive clinical experiences, and backs up the patented process in providing proven products. The cost is considerable less than drugs, chelation, radiation, chemotherapy and operations. It does NOT interfere with medication. There are now viruses that can not be stopped with antibiotics, but these all natural products are producing excellent results with supervision from doctors.

Over 3000 Doctors Have Already Switched

They have switched from drugs to alternative medicine in order to help people recover from cancer, heart attacks, arthritis diabetes, lupus, fibromyalgia, allergies, fatigue and many other health problems without any side effects. We make no health claims. We work with doctors in giving the body all natural food grade products it needs to heal itself. There is also a Prevention Program to help you from getting sick. "An ounce of prevention costs far less, and is so much better than a pound of cure" (doctor and hospital bills). Which would you prefer, $149 a year to help prevent a heart attack, or a $50,000 by pass operation? The choice is yours. Let us try to help you prevent health problems.

Beef Industry Teams Together For NYC Relief

WESTMORELAND, N.Y. — In light of the recent tragedy at the World Trade Center, the New York Beef Industry Council (NYBIC) will be coordinating a relief effort on behalf of beef producers in New York State and across the nation.

The Oklahoma Beef Industry Council, South Dakota Stock Grower's Association and Idaho's Magic Valley Cattlemen's Association initiated the fund-raising effort and have since been joined by the Missouri Beef Council.

The NYBIC will work with the Salvation Army to determine where beef products are most needed several weeks and will be used to purchase beef gift certificates and beef products to be distributed to victims of the World Trade Center crash, as well as to rescue workers and clean-up crews.

Top Youth Dairy Animals Selected At All-American

DAVE LEFEVER
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — More than 800 dairy animals representing seven breeds were exhibited here Monday during the 46th Pennsylvania Youth Dairy Show.

Youth from 4-H Clubs and FFA chapters across the state came with their prize calves, heifers, and cows — all blue-ribbon winners at district shows conducted earlier this summer.

In the Ayrshire show, the sister and brother team of Hannah and Ethan Wentworth, Quarryville, won top championship honors. Hannah's 4-year-old cow, Wentworth Farm Nampa Skye, was named grand champion, while Ethan's senior 2-year-old, Wentworth Farm Retake Lydia took reserve champion. Exhibiting junior champion and reserve in the Ayrshire show were Carla Miller of Belleville and Kevin Caldwell of Beaver Falls.

Brown Swiss junior champion and reserve honors went to Jacob Hushon, Airville, and Andrew Daubert, Pine Grove.

Guernsey junior champ and reserve were exhibited by Travis Trotter of Enon Valley and Emily Stuff of Mercersburg.

Junior champion Jersey and reserve went to Jesse Kline of Chambersburg and Corbin Wood of Littlestown, respectively.

Jessica Kennedy of Butler won the grand champion prize for Kuszlyk Cattle Co. Lucy. Donna Mercer's Outlaw Moon was named reserve champion.

For the Red and Whites, Dan Puzo of Montrose exhibited the grand champion cow, 5-year-old Goff-Farms Locate Gracy-Red. Reserve went to Sierra Slater of Rome, Bradford County.

DEANNA CUNFER
Carbon Co. Correspondent

TANNERSVILLE (Monroe Co.) — After speaking at the PennAg keynote session early last week, Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture Samuel E. Hayes conducted an educational event and press conference at Mr. Z's Market, Tannersville.

Hayes highlighted the fact that Pennsylvania enjoys the edge in egg safety. Hayes also offered food safety tips to the consumers.

Also in attendance were Mark Oney, manager of Mr. Z's, and Jeff Brown, general superintendent. Mr. Z's Market is owned by Weis Markets Inc.

Paul D. Sauder, member of the PennAg Industries Poultry Council, which developed the Pennsylvania Egg Quality Assurance Program (PEQAP) in 1994, said, "We want shoppers to look for the 'PEQAP' seal to take advantage of our state's premier egg safety program and to purchase eggs at the markets that offer PEQAP."

According to Sauder, all of the eggs sold under the Weis Market label are processed according to PEQAP guidelines, and Weis has been a "strong supporter" of the program since it began in 1994.

"We launched PEQAP in 1994 as the nation's first egg safety program and as a private/public partnership," said Hayes. "It is a prototype for the world. Agriculture and health officials from all over the globe contact us to help them implement similar programs in their nations."

PEQAP is a voluntary industry program intended to minimize Salmonella enteritidis (SE) contamination of chicken (shell) eggs. About 22.5 million layer chickens, or 85 percent of the state's flock, now are monitored under the program.

To display the PEQAP label on their shell eggs, producers must meet stringent requirements for egg testing, chick monitoring and testing, manure sampling and culturing, farm biosecurity, employee and package sanitation, record keeping, and refrigeration and other criteria.

PEQAP requirements are a more stringent farm-to-fork system that the new federal rules implemented Sept. 4. Those rules require a safe handling advisory label on egg cartons along with egg storage and display at 45 degrees Fahrenheit, or lower, at retail establishments.

In its rule, the USDA noted that SE "continues to be a significant health concern," although there has been a 40 percent decline in the number of cases reported to the Centers for Disease Control since 1996.

People eating contaminated eggs that aren't properly prepared can suffer flu-like symptoms usually within 12 to 72 hours after consumption. The illness usually lasts four to seven days and can be most serious — or even fatal — for infants, the elderly, and those with impaired immune systems.

Sauder said, "Pennsylvanians eat about three billion eggs a year — or an average of 245 per person. Eggs are economical and are a source of important nutrients in a balanced diet. We want consumers to know that PEQAP eggs are produced with safety, as well as high quality and low price in mind."

Pennsylvania is the nation's fourth largest egg producer (after Ohio, California, and Iowa), producing about 5.8 billion eggs annually for in-state consumption and export.

Consumers can practice egg safety with these steps: buy eggs with the PEQAP symbol, keep eggs refrigerated, refrigerate cooked eggs and egg-containing foods, thoroughly cook eggs, and wash hands thoroughly after handling raw foods, including eggs.

The state's department of agriculture, in conjunction with PennAg Industries Association and leaders of the egg and poultry industry, developed PEQAP. It also is supported by Penn State University, the University of Pennsylvania, the Pennsylvania Animal Health Commission, the Pennsylvania Department of Health, and the federal Food and Drug Administration, Center for Food Safety and Applied Nutrition.

Sponsors Assist In Production Of KILE

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Keystone International Livestock Exposition (KILE) is in its 45th year at Harrisburg.

The exposition is recognized nationally as a showcase for the nation's top beef cattle, swine, sheep, and horses. It will conducted at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg Oct. 2-8.

To date, 70 major sponsors have committed funds to support KILE. A sponsorship program was put together a few years ago to assist in funding the show as well as to promote the show. With the revamped KILE program, many opportunities exist for agricultural companies and individuals to get involved.

Nutrena is sponsoring the "Challenge of the Breeds" show on Saturday evening in the large arena. This event will pit nine internationally recognized horse breeds: Appaloosa, Arabian, Half-Arabian, Percheron, Paint, Quarter Horse, Morgan, Palomino, and Pinto against each other in an evening of fun and mastery. A total of 12 horses chosen by their respective breed associations will be entered in the competition. The "Keystone Sovereign Champion" will then receive $1,000.

Sponsoring the Kiddie Pedal Pull is Evergreen Tractor Sales at Myerstown. Dennis Grumbine, owner, reports that he chose the Kiddie's Pedal Pull to sponsor because of the close tie-in with the equipment business. The Pedal Pull will be conducted on Saturday, Oct. 6 at 3 p.m. The event is open to children between the ages of 3-8.

Kessler's has chosen to sponsor our daily "Kessler's Barnyard," as it is called, where kids of all ages can touch and pet barnyard animals. Kessler's is located in Lemoyne.

Lebanon Valley Farmers/ Fulton Bank is sponsoring the Agri-Kid Olympics. Farm-related competitive events will be conducted for children including wheelbarrow races, hay toss and sack races. Kids will even learn how to auctioneer.

Pennsylvania Livestock Association is sponsoring the Keystone Stockman's Contest. It will be Monday, Oct. 9 and is open to any 4-H or FFA member in the U.S. and Canada. Last year, 502 youth participated in this contest.

Sponsorships at KILE are available in six monetary denominations from $50 to $1,000 plus. Sponsors receive show pins, ring announcements, plaques, display ads, pictures, and banners depending on the level of participation.

Entertainment Scheduled For KILE

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The year 2001 has been designated "Year of the Sheep," so sheep exhibitors will receive special attention as part of the effort to increase public awareness of the hog industry and the high caliber of sheep shown annually at the Keystone International Livestock Expo (KILE).

KILE is in its 45th year at Harrisburg. The exposition is recognized nationally as a showcase for the nation's top beef cattle, swine, sheep and horses. It will be conducted at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg Oct. 2-8.

At the 2001 Show, the acts, booked primarily for Friday, Saturday, Sunday, and Monday, will amble around the Farm Show Complex putting on their show.

Two acts have been hired to stroll the show. They are J.J. Huggles, the Goodwill ambassador clown, and "Blaze," the world famous balloon blowing goat.

J.J. Huggles wants to put a smile on every face. He not only strolls but will perform on a small stage his combination of magic, fun, games, and the traditional clown skills.

Blaze the Balloon Blowing Goat has amazed audiences across, not only America, but also in Australia. The act consists of a witty clown named Dr. Happy Laclair and his friend, "Blaze." The act keeps all ages baffled and amused. You'll love the combination of a colorful, witty, clever clown making fantastic balloon art from balloons inflated by a talking, balloon blowing goat.

Penn State Cooperative Extension Capitol Region Dairy Team

EARLY CORN SILAGE TEST RESULTS

Tim Beck
Capitol Region Dairy Program Coordinator

Capitol region agronomy and dairy team members have been collecting corn silage samples to assess the quality of this year's silage crop. This effort will continue over the next several months and we will provide more information as it becomes available.

Corn silage was analyzed at harvest for an early look at the quality of this year's crop. The same corn silage samples will be evaluated when feeding begins to determine how well the crop fermented and evaluate the feeding value of the crop.

Special thanks to Ralph Ward at Cumberland Valley Analytical Services, Maugansville, Md., for donating the laboratory work for this project.

Spotty, erratic rainfall patterns were evident around the region this year and our samples reflect this variation. We have intentionally included some excellent quality, well-eared fields and some drought-stressed fields to illustrate the variation to be found in this year's corn silage. Many fields sampled did show light ear development and kernel fill as would be expected when moisture is below normal.

Dry matter intake is greatly influenced by the extent and rate of digestion for the fiber in a forage crop. We are especially interested in the neutral detergent fiber (NDF) levels in the crop because this measure gives us guidance on how quickly the cow will achieve "gut fill" when consuming a forage diet. We are constantly seeking to strike a balance between sufficient NDF in the ration to maintain rumen health while meeting the cow's energy requirement without exceeding her tolerance for high starch ingredients in the diet.

The corn silage sampled in this study averaged 49 percent NDF (percent of DM) with a low of 39.7 percent and a high of 61 percent. National Research Council's (NRC) value for corn silage is 45 percent NDF, so this year's samples show a slightly higher than normal amount of NDF than "typical" corn silage.

But we must be careful when looking at the NDF value alone. It's not only how much NDF is present in the corn silage, but how much of it is digestible and how quickly it will be utilized, pass through the system, and allow the cow to consume more feed and thus produce more milk. During times of moisture stress, fiber that would otherwise be digestible can become bound to lignin, the structural component of plant cell walls that gives the corn plant strength. This bound fiber contributes to the cow's sense of "gut fill," but because the fiber is not digestible, it merely takes away space that could be filled with more digestible nutrients.

To measure this characteristic, we used a method called in vitro (test tube) NDF digestibility. Samples are incubated for 48 hours in rumen fluid and the disappearance of NDF is measured. This procedure simulates the cow's rumen and provides a measure of how digestible the fiber in the silage will be. Corn silage NDF digestibility is listed in NRC tables at 58 percent. The samples tested ranged from 51 percent to 72 percent with an average of 61.8 percent. This variation can certainly translate into markedly different amounts of dry matter intake and thus milk production for the samples on either end of the range.

A relatively new measure used to evaluate silage samples called Milk 2000 was developed at the University of Wisconsin. To use this system, producers need lab values for dry matter, NDF, NDF digestibility (48 hour), starch, ash and crude fat. Using these values, the spreadsheet calculates the "milk-per-ton" potential from a silage sample.

The software assumes a 1,350-pound cow consuming a 30 percent NDF diet and uses NRC energy requirements to project milk production. Preliminary values from the study samples (pending additional NDF digestibility results from some samples) range from a low of 2,828 pounds per ton to a high of 3,753 pounds per ton. It's not difficult to see that 925 pounds of difference in milk production per ton of silage would translate into real money for the dairy producer.

Starch levels vary across the board for the samples as would expected when some samples were from corn with no ear development and others were from well-eared corn. NRC value for starch is 30 percent while our samples averaged 23.6 percent, with a low of 6 percent and a high of 40.6 percent. Certainly these samples will require very different supplementation to work successfully in the dairy ration.

As more data becomes available and we have feedout results for the samples, we will make more specific suggestions on supplementing this year's corn silage to achieve good milk production. A year like this with wide variation in growing conditions underscores the need for complete and quality lab results.

Visit the Capitol Region Dairy Website at http://CapitalDairy.cas.psu.edu for more complete information on the corn silage initiative as it becomes available. You may also contact Tim Beck at (717) 840-7408 or e-mail tbeck@psu.edu.

Corn Silage Whole-Plant Dry Down Rates*

Glenn A Shirk, Extension Dairy Agent, Lancaster County, Pa.

This week's results continues to reflect only the later planted corn since the early planted plots have fully dried down.

Even the later planted corn is drying down rapidly due to advancing maturity Because plant moisture is below optimum for both tower and bunker silos, this project is being concluded with this report.

With the onset of cooler weather, less mature fields of corn will likely start drying down at a slower rate and some may never reach desired maturity and moisture levels prior to a killing frost.

NASS Agriculture Counts

By Marc Tosiano
Pa. State Statistician

CROP FORECASTS

Editor's Note: This is a monthly column from the Pennsylvania Ag Statistics Service (PASS), a field office of USDA's National Agricultural Statistics Service (NASS) in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture (PDA). The Website is www.usda.gov/nass/.

The Sept. 1 crop forecasts are in! The report was delayed from September 12 to the 14 because of the attacks on New York and Washington, D.C.

Pennsylvania production of grain corn, barley, soybeans, and tobacco are all expected to be below last year based on the September ag yield surveys from about 425 Keystone farmers.

Corn yields as of Sept. 1 are forecast at 98 bushels per acre, down 29 bushels from last year's record high level. The 98-bushel forecast is down 10 bushels from the previous month as a result of drought conditions in August.

Pennsylvania grain corn production is expected to be 26 percent below last year at 101.9 million bushels. Barley yield is expected to be 67 bushels, down 5 bushels from last year and unchanged from the Aug. 1 forecast. The expected 5.03 million bushel production in Pennsylvania is 6 percent below last year. Soybean yield is now forecast at 38 bushels per acre, which is 2 bushels less than the August forecast and 5 bushels below last year.

Pennsylvania production is now forecast at 16.2 million bushels or 5 percent less than last year.

Pennsylvania-type tobacco expected production is 4.14 million pounds from 2,000 acres. This production is 18 percent less than last year. Maryland-type tobacco expected production is 1.73 million pounds, from 900 acres. This production is 66 percent less than last year. (There is no forecast for Vector-type tobacco.)

Sweet corn contracted production is expected to be 6,000 tons in Pennsylvania, down 52 percent from last year. The decline is mainly due to 1,000 less acres for harvest.

Snap bean contracted production is expected to be 20,950 tons in Pennsylvania, down 24 percent from last year. The decline is mainly because of 1,200 less acres for harvest.

National Pesticide Initiative

Corn and apple growers may soon be asked for their help in determining the actual application rates of pesticides and other pest management practices used on these crops. Here in Pennsylvania, the studies are conducted as a cooperative effort between the Pennsylvania Ag Statistics Service and Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

For the first time, growers will be able to earn one core pesticide credit for responding to the apple or corn survey.

The Food Quality Protection Act of 1996 initiated much higher food safety standards related to pesticide residues. Without actual application rates from growers, the EPA may assume farmers use more pesticides than they actually do. This could lead to pesticides being banned or restricted unnecessarily.

About 200 apple growers and 200 corn growers in Pennsylvania will get a letter in the mail that explains the studies. Trained interviewers will contact selected farms and orchards to set up a meeting time that is convenient for the grower.

The interview typically lasts about an hour. Having fertilizer and pesticide records on hand will help simplify the interview.

Ethanol Conferences

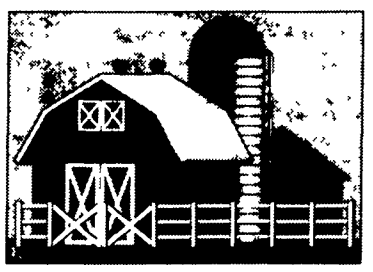
I recently presented some basic statistics about field crop production at two ethanol conferences in Grantville and near Pittsburgh. The participants ranged from growers and ethanol producers to agencies promoting the production of renewable energy.

The conferences were designed to discuss the possibility of building an ethanol plant in Pennsylvania to produce fuel from grain corn, corn stover, small grains, and other crops. My role was to present acreage and production statistics for various crops in the past 30 years. I also had information about the location of this production by county.

NASS acreage and production statistics are only one part of the decision-making process for ethanol production in Pennsylvania. I mention this because it shows yet another way that 'Agricultural Counts' is used to promote agriculture in Pennsylvania and the nation.

Saturday Is Family Day At KILE

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Keystone International Livestock Exposition (KILE) has chosen Saturday, Oct. 6 as Family Day.



Lebanon Valley Farmers/ Fulton Bank is sponsoring the "Agri-Kid Olympics" at noon. The Olympics is a fun time for kids as they compete in such farm-related events as sack races, wheelbarrow races, laughing contest, horse shoe pitch, and hog-calling contest.

The Kiddie Pedal Power Tractor Pull, sponsored by Evergreen Tractor Sales at Myerstown, is a special event very similar to the big tractor pulls seen at many county fairs. Children must preregister previous to the event, which will be conducted at 3 p.m. The event is limited to 80 participants.

Kessler's "Barnyard" is open all week long, providing a unique experience for the children to actually touch farm animals such as calves, sheep, and pigs. A farmer will be there to answer any questions youngsters may have.

All-Breed Classic Series Six-Horse Hitch Set For KILE

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — On Friday, Oct. 5, the Farm Show Arena will come alive with the sound of thundering hooves. The All-Breed Classic Series Six-Horse Hitch will begin at 7 p.m. in the Large Arena of the Farm Show Complex. An admission fee of $5 per person will be charged at the gate.

Six-horse hitches come from seven states and represent four major draft horse breeds.

In 2000, more than 300 six-horse hitchers were entered in the 45 qualifying shows across the U.S. and Canada. The Keystone International Livestock Exposition (KILE) is again a qualifying show for the series final. Prize money totaling more than $38,000 will be awarded at KILE.

The North American Six-Horse Hitch Classic Series is the ultimate driving event in the heavy horse world. KILE has been chosen as one of 45 recognized on the Classic Series Show circuit. Each year all across America, six-horse hitches perform at state fairs and agricultural exhibitions to accumulate points for their region and beyond competing at qualifying shows spread across Canada and the U.S. The competition builds to a climax at the end of the year when the high-point hitches are invited to compete in the final competition, the Classic Series. The winner of the Classic Series All-Breed Trophy is considered by many to be the best six-horse hitch in the world.

The stated goals for the Classic Series are "to increase the number of draft hitches on the show circuit" and to "increase public awareness of the sport of driving heavies, thereby expanding development of the draft breed industry."

The four major draft horse breeds that compete in the Classic Series are Belgians, Percherons, Clydesdales, and Shires. Hitches are judged on conformation, manners, the proper fit and cleanliness of the harness, the appropriateness of the wagon, and the hitch's way of going. The stride of a draft horse at the walk should be long, one that covers ground, with plenty of snap. The trot should be stylish, giving the distinct impression of power and energy.

The sport of driving draft horses is continuing to grow and find favor with audiences across the continent. The Classic Series competition offers incentives for exhibitors and encourage breeders of quality hitch horses.

The stylish driving horses seen in the ring today are the result of countless hours of preparation and care that culminate in the brilliant performances you will witness during this Classic Series Qualifying Show Competition.

The real winner of the Classic Six-Horse Hitch Series is the spectator. More than 550 draft horses will be on display, and it is expected that more than 20 six-horse hitches will be in competition for the Classic at KILE.

KILE is Oct. 2-8 at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg.

KILE Shepherd's Lead Line Oct. 6

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Who looks better, the sheep or the shepherd? Judges will tell at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition (KILE) Shepherd's Lead Line Competition Saturday, Oct. 6 at noon at the Farm Show Complex.

The objectives of this class are to present a class of yearling ewes in a most attractive manner and give spectators an opportunity to see the best of the sheep industry.

The normal procedure of a livestock show is for the animal to be all primped and lovely, but in lead line competition, the lead-sman is also in the limelight. Both are to be dressed fashionably in their best wool outfit (at least 80 percent wool).

Not just another pretty face can steal our show. The herdsperson must not only look great, but the sheep must also show their modeling talents. The contestants and the sheep must be able to work together in the ring.

Spokespersons point out the virtues of wool at ringside. It is a product that has been around forever and in recent years is making a well-deserved comeback.

Youth Contests Featured At KILE

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The 24th annual Keystone's Stockmen's Contest, a youth activity in the program of the Keystone International Livestock Expo (KILE), is scheduled Monday, Oct. 8 here at the Farm Show Complex.

The contest is open to all 4-H and FFA members. Each county or chapter is invited to enter one or more teams of three or four members. These members will also compete as individuals. Registration begins at 8 a.m. and the contest concludes at 4 p.m. This allows a group to participate in the contest, view the livestock and horse shows in progress, and return home the same day.

About 200 FFA members, 4-H members, and college students will enter the junior and collegiate judging contests at KILE. This educational competition is a way to test live animal knowledge and verbal skills, providing students with valuable experiences for their future in agriculture. This contest begins at 8 a.m., Saturday, Oct. 6.

The eighth annual Keystone Arabian Horse Judging Contest will also be conducted. Prizes for this show are provided by the International Arabian Horse Association. This contest will be Monday, Oct. 8, beginning at 8 a.m.

LANCASTER FARMING SCHEDULES FAMILY FARM SEMINAR

With holidays approaching, families can take time to discuss farm transition and marketing. Lancaster Farming will provide a forum to begin those types of discussion with our "Family Farm Survival Seminar: Management and Marketing," Tuesday, Nov. 13, at the Farm and Home Center in Lancaster. Watch the paper for details, including schedule of events.

Northeast Order Uniform Price For August 2001

BOSTON, Mass. — Erik F. Rasmussen, market administrator for the Northeast Marketing Area, has announced that the statistical uniform price paid by milk dealers (handlers) regulated under the Northeast Order for August 2001 is $17.53 per hundredweight ($1.51 per gallon) for milk delivered to plants located in Suffolk County, Mass. (Boston). The August statistical uniform price is $17.43 for delivery to plants in New York, N.Y., and $17.33 for delivery to plants in Philadelphia.

The statistical uniform price is the benchmark minimum producer blend price paid to dairy farmers, prior to allowable deductions, for milk containing 3.5 percent butterfat, 2.99 percent protein, and 5.69 percent other solids. The price received by an individual dairy farmer will vary as the component composition of a farm's milk differs from the established benchmarks and by the location of the plant(s) to which the farm's milk is delivered.

Mr. Rasmussen also stated that the producer price differential (PPD) for August is $1.98 per hundredweight for milk delivered to plants located in Suffolk County, Mass. The PPD represents each producer's share of the value generated by the market-wide pool on a hundredweight basis. The PPD, which is added to the payment producers receive for their milk's components, is adjusted for the location of the receiving plant. The statistical uniform price and PPD decrease by scheduled amounts the more distant the plant receiving producer milk is from Suffolk County, Mass. PPD for August for milk delivered to plants in Philadelphia is $1.78 per hundredweight.

The class prices for milk pooled in August are as follows: Class I, $18.65 (Suffolk County, Mass.); Class II, $15.98; Class III, $15.55; and Class IV, $15.06. Comparable prices for August 2000 were: Class I, $15.20; Class II, $12.56; Class III, $10.13; and Class IV price $11.87. The component values for August are protein, $2.2188 per pound; butterfat, $2.2976 per pound; other solids, $0.1535 per pound; and nonfat solids, $0.8073 per pound.

Milk receipts from producers totaled 2.037 billion pounds. Class I utilization, milk processed as beverage milk, was 43.7 percent of producer milk receipts. The average Class I utilization was 45.2 percent in August 2000.

Lancaster Farming's Family Farm Survival Seminar Nov. 13

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Lancaster Farming has scheduled an event for the entire family.

On Tuesday, Nov. 13, Lancaster Farming will host its first "Family Farm Survival Seminar" at the Farm and Home Center in Lancaster.

"More than ever, farmers must begin to more fully market their farm products to stay alive," said Andy Andrews, Lancaster Farming editor. "And more importantly, they must consider strategies to help turn the operations and ownership of the farm over to their children."

For this reason, according to Andrews, it is imperative to "educate the older, transitioning farmer, as well as the young farmer to some of the benefits of estate planning. Along with this, farm operators must understand the marketplace and what the future of farming, and product marketing, will mean."

Scheduled speakers are Dr. John Lord, a respected and widely known product marketing expert from St. Joseph's University in Philadelphia. Lord spoke at the Pennsylvania Forage and Grassland's Conference at Grantville in March 2000 and again at a Berks County Ag Survival conference January this year. He's professor of food marketing at the university.

Another speaker who can provide methods to help transition the farm is Elizabeth Brown, a farm accountant from Shippensburg, who spoke at several producer and industry banquets. She's an expert at practical family farm financial planning with a focus on small farms.

Scheduled is Brad Hilty, Penn State Dairy Alliance, with an expertise in dairy management and marketing. He will provide his views into the realities of dairy farming and product positioning in the New Economy.

Another speaker noted for her expertise on transitioning family businesses is Dr. Cindy Iannarelli, Bridgeville, who operates a consultant company, "Business Cents." "Dr. Cindy," as she is known, spoke at the Mid-Atlantic Fruit and Vegetable Convention at Hershey in February. Her presentation focused on steps families can take now to ensure smooth business transition.

Seating is limited to 400, and the seminar will be no cost to those who sign up. Use the enclosed sign-up form — no photocopies are accepted. Lunch will be provided at the seminar. For more information, contact Karen Hoffer at (717) 721-4416.

Farm Link Sponsors Roadside Market Meeting In Trexlertown

TREXLERTOWN (Lehigh Co.) — Producers and beginning farmers who wanted to learn about establishing a roadside market attended a Pennsylvania Farm Link meeting sponsored by Eagle Point Farm Market Sept. 19.

The meeting included presentations by Steve and Gayle Ganzer on how the market was started, current products, and their marketing plan and strategy.

The Ganzers established their roadside market after running a huckster/wholesale route for restaurants. They purchased the land for the market in 1986 and began selling their own produce and other locally grown produce.

Ten years ago Ganzers expanded their market to include their own greenhouse products including perennials, herbs, and hanging baskets. They outlined their production strategies that include sustainable agriculture field and greenhouse methods.

John Berry from Penn State Extension provided information on marketing trends and tips for developing roadside markets. To complete the evening, Farm Link provided information on their services and a preview of upcoming activities and events.

Pennsylvania Rural Electric Association Serves 600,000 Residents

The Pennsylvania Rural Electric Association (PREA), based in Harrisburg, Pa., is the service organization for the non-profit consumer-owned rural electric cooperatives in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. Currently, the 13 co-ops in Pennsylvania and one in New Jersey provide electric service to more than 600,000 rural residents, businesses and industries. Pennsylvania's co-ops own and maintain about 12.5 percent of the electric distribution lines in the state, covering nearly one-third of the Commonwealth's land area in 41 counties. These lines represent one of the largest non-governmental investments in rural infrastructure in the state and are an essential component of business and industry.

PREA's 14-member board of directors — one director elected from each of its member cooperatives — conducts the association's business to best serve the consumers members of the co-ops.

PREA works jointly with the Allegheny Electric Cooperative Inc., a generation and transmission cooperative that provides wholesale power to the 14 co-ops.

HISTORY

As late as the 1930s, only six out of every 100 rural Pennsylvanians knew the miracle of electric light bulb in their homes, The reason – establishing power companies in Pennsylvania and New Jersey had decided that running electric lines into rural areas would not make them a profit.

As a rule, power companies charged farmers $2,000 to $3,000 per mile to build lines to their homes and then charged electric rates higher than those in the cities. Since the average gross income of a farm family of the period was just $1,800 per year, most couldn't afford electric service.

In many areas, power was not available at any cost. for a time it seemed profit needs — greed — of stockholder-controlled private power companies would condemn most of Pennsylvania's and New Jersey's rural population to live forever with kerosene lamps and hand pumps.

But rural leader and a handful of politicians were not ready to accept the status quo. They began working to demonstrate that electric power could be provided to rural areas at a reasonable cost and began developing a business structure to make that delivery possible.

In 1931, New York Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt established the Power Authority of the State of New York (PASNY) to develop water power on the St. Lawrence River, PASNY produced the first study on the actual costs of electric distribution and helped demonstrate the practicality of providing electricity to rural areas.

In 1935, armed with studies showing both the economic feasibility and the benefits of providing electricity to rural areas, then-President Roosevelt signed an executive order forming the Rural Electrification Administration (REA).

The REA program was initially intended as an inducement to the private power companies to begin serving rural areas. But even with the incentives provided by 2 percent REA loans, the private power suppliers showed little interest in building the necessary lines. By the end of 1935, it was clear that the private power companies weren't serious about acting on the government's offer to electrify the countryside. Most of the loan applications and inquiries REA received came from farm co-ops. REA now realized that farmers and their rural neighbors were willing to take electrification into their own hands on a cooperative basis.

Farmers had long experience with cooperatives. In fact, the co-op was the business structural rural people adopted when confronted with a task too large for any family to handle itself.

It was natural then that rural leaders chose to form another kind of co-op to provide themselves and their neighbors with electricity. Since extending central station electric service required very specialized engineering skills, many in Congress were convinced rural electrification would never be accomplished without REA receiving regular appropriations and full status. So in 1936, one year and 20 days after REA had been created, Congress passed legislation making REA a permanent government agency. In 1939, REA became part of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

On October 20, 1994, a sweeping reorganization of the Ag Department took place. As a result, after 59 years of existence, REA was officially disbanded. Most REA functions were transferred to a new Rural Utilities Service (RUS).

But the mission of rural electrification continues. Today, about 1,000 electric cooperatives across the United States provide power to more than 25 million consumer members. Each co-op is a locally owned, taxpaying business incorporated under the laws of its individual state.

Rural electric cooperatives have been delivering low-cost electric service to Pennsylvania and New Jersey rural residents since 1936, when the Steamburg Electric Cooperative Association (later consolidated into Northwestern Rural Electric Cooperative) was established in Erie and Crawford counties.

The 14 rural electric cooperatives that today comprise PREA were organized between 1936 and 1941. By the time the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941, all of them had gone through the pangs of becoming organized, of getting their first loans, of making arrangements for power supply at least on a short-term basis and had begun construction of lines to reach their unserved neighbors.

With the outbreak of WWII, the co-ops realized they need a statewide organization to speak for them as one voice on legislative issues. The co-ops created PREA in February 1942.

York Fair Selects Dairy Goat Winners

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

YORK (York Co.) — "Phanfare," a 3-year-old Nubian exhibited by Helen Snyder, Newport, won supreme champion honors at the York Fair's dairy goat show.

Sharing in the breed champion spotlight with the supreme winner was the reserve senior and grand champion Nubian, a year-old milking herdmate also exhibited by Snyder. Junior champion honors went to Snyder's doe kid under five months, topping the year-old reserve junior champion exhibited by Kassy Snyder, Newport.

Nancy Gardner, Elliottsburg, exhibited her 5-year-old goat "Enigma" to senior and grand champion honors in the Alpine breed. Reserve senior and grand champion was a 2-year-old doe exhibited by Derrick Carpenter, Newville. Carpenter also took junior champion honors with his year-old plus doe over reserve junior champion Benjamin Dubbs, Gettysburg, who exhibited a doe yearling.

LaMancha grand and reserve champions were from the showstring of Robert and Carole Robinson, Shippensburg. Their 2-year-old took the champion title over its 3-year-old herdmate. Junior honors were shared by Erin Lang, Glen Rock, with the champion and Lisa Lang, reserve champion, both doe kids.

Janice Kessler, Dover, exhibited the senior and grand champion Saanen, an aged class doe, winning over the year-old milking doe reserve champion exhibited by Kristopher Trwobridge, Newport. Junior champion was a five-month doe exhibited by Benjamin Dubbs, while Trowbridge exhibited his second-place five-month doe to reserve junior champion.

Toggenburg honors all went to Derrick Carpenter, Newville. Champion was an aged class entry, over the 3-year-old reserve champion. A 5-month doe took junior champion over the reserve yearling entry.

Junior show supreme champion was "Lioness," a 3-year-old Nubian milking doe owned by Jessica Legore, Thomasville. Junior and reserve grand champion Nubian was a junior doe kid exhibited by Breezy Legore, Thomasville, and reserve junior champion title went to Jessica Legore's dry yearling.

Jacqueline Sabol, Delta, exhibited her Oberhasli junior doe kid to breed grand champion and supreme junior champion honors. Selected reserve junior and reserve grand was the dry yearling of Jarah Spahr, Lewisbery.

Junior goat champion showman was Jarah Spahr, with Jessic Legore named the reserve champion showman.

PLA Recognizes Youth

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania Livestock Association (PLA) has recognized outstanding 4-H and FFA Youth for the past 24 years. The winners are selected from a field of candidates submitted by county extension personnel and vocational agriculture teachers throughout the commonwealth.

The male FFA Youth Award recipient this year is Brandon Herman, son of Steven and Tammy Herman from Beavertown. Brandon is a member of the West Snyder FFA at Beaver Springs and has been involved for the past three years. His projects have mainly been in beef breeding. He now has a cow/calf operation which numbers 15. He is involved in his community 4-H club as well as many activities with the FFA chapter. He is employed by Wood-Mode Corporation.

The female FFA Youth Award winner is Jennifer Zimmerman, daughter of Jay and JoAnn Zimmerman, Reinholds. Jennifer is a member of the Cloister FFA chapter at Ephrata Senior High School. Jennifer was graduated last spring from school. She too was active in 4-H as well as her FFA chapter. She served as chairman of the Lancaster County FFA Council, was FFA eastern regional vice president, and was awarded her Keystone Degree. Her projects have included beef, sheep, and hogs, and works full time at the Agway Store in Ephrata.

The outstanding 4-H Girl is Deidra Smith, daughter of Dwight and Gail Smith of Glencoe. A Somerset County 4-H'er for the past nine years, Deidra is a senior at Berlin Brothers Valley High School. Her primary 4-H projects are sheep, but she has also shown beef, horses, and rabbits, as well as cooking, sewing, orienteering and riflery. Very active in local as well as county clubs, she has participated in State Achievement Days, livestock judging, and fashion review. In high school, she is secretary for the National Honor Society as well as a member of various clubs. Her future plans include attending Penn State, majoring in agriculture, and some day becoming an ag extension agent.

Honors for the 4-H Boy goes to John Strawbridge, Whitehall. John is a senior at Whitehall High School and the son of Donna Lazarus Strawbridge. John raises and shows both hogs and sheep at many fairs over the course of a year. He has been involved in the livestock business since he was old enough to walk. He has been a 4-H'er for nine years. In 1999, he was awarded a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Atlanta for his excellent 4-H record. John's future includes computer training and then coming back home to the family farm.

These youth will be recognized at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition opening ceremony in the Small Arena of the Farm Show Complex Thursday, Oct. 4 at 4 p.m. They will receive a plaque and a monetary award.

KILE Exhibitors

for next year's national competition. The All-Breeds Series Classic Six Horse Hitch show will be conducted on Oct. 5. On Sunday, Oct. 7, the Quarter Horse and Appaloosa horse breeds will be paraded and judged in the KILE show ring.

To help sheep breeders and exhibitors find high quality ewes to take back to their flocks, eight breeds will host ewe sales through the Exposition. The 2001 KILE will also host the Eastern Regional Southdown show and two regional junior sheep shows.

The cattle shows will continue their tradition of highly recognized national shows. The Limousin has been selected as a "Medal of Excellence Show."

The Eastern Regional Hereford Classic and the official Pennsylvania State Shorthorn show will continue as part of the KILE festivities.

The American British White Park Show will return for a second year.

For youth looking for a potential 4-H or FFA project or for breeders looking for high quality beef animals to add to their feedlot, the Club Calf and Prospect Heifer Auction Sale will commence on Oct. 6.

This year, the swine department is pleased to feature all swine breeds in the Keystone "Classic Show and Sale." The National Junior Swine Association will also host the Eastern Regional Show, for the first time at KILE.

In continuing to support the future of the livestock industry, several youth events exemplify the livestock industry's bright future. The Keystone International Livestock Exposition will host the Collegiate and Junior Livestock Judging Contests. 4-H, FFA, and collegiate teams from across the nation will test their judging skills on Oct. 6. Demonstrating their ability to create clothing using wool, youth will participate in the Keystone Lead Line on Oct. 6. Testing 4-H and FFA member's livestock knowledge, the Keystone Stockman's Contest will occur on Oct. 8.

"The Keystone International Livestock Exposition is a huge and rapidly growing show. Pennsylvania has a world-class show for a world-class livestock industry; and, with an ambitious construction project scheduled for the Pennsylvania Farm Show Complex, we are committed to providing the livestock industry with the very best," said Secretary Hayes.

For more information on the Keystone International Livestock Exposition or how to get a premium list, contact the Pennsylvania Farm Show Complex at (717) 787-2905 or visit the Department of Agriculture's Website through the PA PowerPort at www.state.pa.us or directly at www.pda.state.pa.us.

that would happen in Somerset County."

It was about half an hour later when he heard news of the plane crash in Somerset County, along with reports that it may have been associated with the same terrorist attacks that wreaked destruction in New York and Washington.

The beef farm where he was at work that morning is about six miles from the crash site of United Airlines Flight 93, he said.

Besides raising livestock and hay on their 140-acre farm in this Allegheny Mountain region, the Svonavecs own a coal and excavating company near Shanksville.

United Airlines Flight 93, in fact, crashed onto a tract of mining land owned by the Svonavecs, about 12 miles from their farm.

According to Dave Svonavec, the site had been leased several years ago to another mining company and was inactive.

"(The plane) couldn't have come down at a better place," he said.

A large part of the tract had already been reclaimed from the strip mining that had occurred on it years earlier. No buildings or people on the ground were harmed by the crash.

Betty Lou Svonavec said that the hours and days after the crash brought an incredible outpouring of assistance from local businesses, churches, and individuals.

Groups from the area have pitched in to provide resources for rescue workers and investigators, including preparing and serving about 800 meals three times a day, conducting prayer services, and volunteering extra flags.

"There is a lot more activity in Somerset County than usual," she said. "Everyone in the whole community has helped out. Anytime (workers at the crash site) need anything, if it's mentioned, it gets there."

More than a week after the crash, Betty Lou said the number of volunteers were still increasing, including those coming in from other states.

The Svonavecs' youngest son, Gabriel, 16, said that his 4-H club is donating sweatshirts and money to the cause.

The family's involvement in agriculture includes conducting semi-annual consignment farm equipment auctions with Betty Lou serving as auctioneer.

The Svonavecs are also a strong presence in the 4-H and livestock exhibiting communities.

In fact, the grand champion market lamb at the Pennsylvania Farm Show was shown by the Svonavec children for each of the the past four years.

Daughter Heidi, 21, is a senior at Penn State in ag education and has spent the last two summers in Harrisburg as a senatorial assistant.

The closeness of the tragedy and its large-scale implications has changed Betty Lou Svonavec's outlook on life, along with that of millions of others.

"You know that you're pretty vulnerable and don't know what tomorrow will bring," she said.

Sen. Arlen Specter introduced legislation last week to posthumously award the Congressional Gold Medal to the passengers and crew of United Airlines Flight 93.

Congress commissions gold medals as its highest expression of national appreciation for distinguished achievements and contributions. The medals are being bestowed on the deceased passengers of Flight 93 because their actions may have saved the U.S. Capitol and the Congress from possible harm.

"This award has special significance for the Senate and the House because all indications are that the plane — this is speculation and we will never know for certain — that the plane was headed for the U.S. Capitol," Specter said.

"The passengers and crew of United Airlines Flight 93, recognizing the potential danger that the aircraft they were aboard posed to large numbers of innocent Americans, American institutions, and the symbols of American democracy, took heroic and noble action to ensure that the aircraft they were aboard could not be used as a weapon."

Specter called the passenger's action "the ultimate act of selfless courage and supreme sacrifice."

York Junior Livestock Sale Offering Benefits Red Cross Relief

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

YORK (York Co.) — In what has become a tradition of many years, the annual York Fair's junior livestock sale kicks off, not with a champion animal, but a cake. The cake is usually sold, several times over, to benefit one of the livestock-related youth judging teams.

But, coming on the heels of the terrorist attacks in New York and Washington, junior exhibitors voted to donate this year's proceeds from a special baked item, a gingerbread house, instead to Red Cross relief efforts.

The gingerbread house itself was initially a mistake, according to noted local contest baker and 4-H parent Belinda Myers, Dallastown. Myers and her daughter, Katie, concocted the creation for one of the fair's culinary competitions, but a rules change gone unnoticed made it ineligible. So they offered it to the juniors for their livestock sale, held as a finale event of the York Fair junior competition.

Presidents of the county's four animal clubs presented the cake to an enthusiastic crowd while volunteer auctioneers and sale supporters Harry Baughman and Blaine Rentzel spurred the bidding. Buyers bid, bought, and redonated the gingerbread house until it was almost — figuratively, at least — in crumbs after changing hands 18 different times and raising $5,325 for Red Cross relief.

Final bidders, Jason and Brina Baer, of Jason Baer Trucking and Baer's Angus, then sent the gingerbread house to Red Cross and local firefighting and emergency representatives stationed at the fairgrounds.

Others participating in the relief fundraiser included: Beasley Ford, Beard's Towing, Sharon Ebaugh, Drover's Bank Division of Fulton Bank, Service Feed and Supply, Godfrey Brothers Meats, Codorus Farms, South Branch Farm, Century K Homestead, Representative Ron Miller, L & R Enterprises, William and Lois Rankin, Rentzel Auctioneering Service, Gordon Shive Insurance, John T. Smith, York County Pork Producers' Association, Farmers First Bank, and Wengers of Myerstown.

First champion through the ring was the market steer, exhibited by Shane Miller. The 1,355-pound champion sold on a final $3,000 bid to Hoss's Steak and Sea House, frequent supporters of area youth livestock events.

Amanda Thompson's 1,245-pound reserve champion market steer likewise brought a $3,000 bid, selling to a contingent of buyers including Cedar Hill Farms, Wellsville, Winter Garden Salad Company, New Oxford, Clugston Ag and Turf, Chambersburg, and Byron Waggoner, Dover.

Matt Bankert's grand champion market lamb weighed in at 110-pounds but generated for the youngster a final bid of $1,350. Buyers were Mike and Jane Rice of Utz Quality Foods, Hanover.

Reserve champion market lamb, weighing 95 pounds, was the entry of Cody Ault. It sold for $700 to Dr. Harold Fisher, York, and Dale and Cindy Ault, Hanover.

Champion market hog was exhibited by Kurt Long, and weighed in at 256-pounds. Winning buyer for the fair's top junior pig was Dover's Bank Division of Fulton Bank, Lebanon, on a $600 bid.

Andrew Bankert was the reserve champion market hog exhibitor. His 239-pound pig brought a final $700 bid from

Solanco Fair Hosts First Dairy Beef At Livestock Sale

ANDY ANDREWS
Editor

QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — Champion and reserve of the Lancaster County 4-H Dairy Beef Club enjoyed similar prices, at 1.30 per pound each, but lots of excitement prevailed.

The dairy beef club members paraded their champions at the start of the livestock sale late last week at the Solanco Fair in Quarryville.

Jenna Hershberger's 737-pound grand champion sold for $1.30 a pound to First Union Bank, represented by Roger Rohrer, vice president, ag department. Reserve, weighing 717 pounds and exhibited by Amber Kiser, sold for the same price to Brett Holzhauer, owner of Quarryville Agway.

The countywide club began about a year ago. According to club adviser Zoann Parker, Quarryville, for the county club, each animal must be a 100 percent Holstein bull calf, raised from three days of age and grain-fed to finish. The club has grown to 61 members and is open to 4-H and FFA members.

The calves "are affordable, so anyone can do this project," said Parker, who works with adviser Judy Zurin, Mount Joy. Parker said the steers are finished to an average of 600 pounds. Club members have sold their steers at several county fair livestock sales.

"This is a fun family project, and anyone can get involved with it," said Parker. "That's why it's blossomed as fast as it has."

This represented the first sale of dairy beef at Quarryville, according to Parker. She said, "The kids are having fun, and the parents are having fun."

Tiffany Dean, who swept the market lamb shows at Solanco Fair, was able to resale her reserve champion, with a $5 per pound bid by Rep. John Barley, going to the American Red Cross Relief Fund. For her grand champion, weighing 136 pounds, the lamb netted $7.80 a pound and sold to Quarryville Family Dentistry, represented by Dr. Rick Leibold and family.

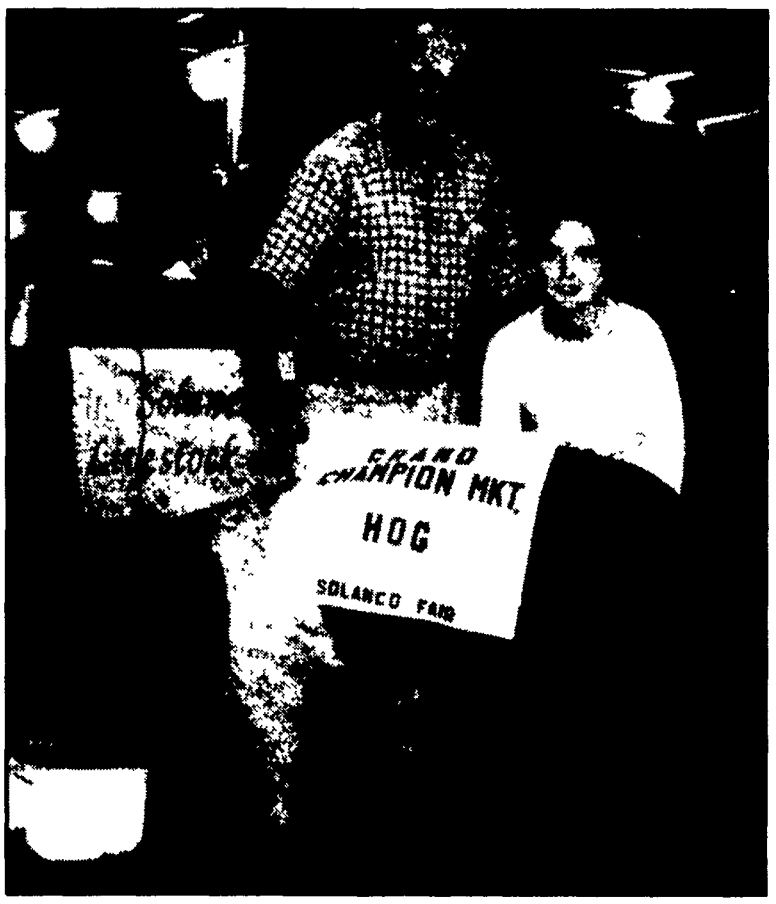
The reserve first sold for Tom and Kathie Kreider, of Caldwell Banker, Quarryville, for $8 per pound. The lamb was resold to Barley to benefit the Red Cross for $5 per pound.

The 269-pound grand champion hog, shown by Tiffany Dean, was sold to Farmer's First Bank, represented by Joe DeLong, for $5.50 per pound. Reserve champion, exhibited by Miriam Henry, sold for $3.50 per pound to The Advertiser, represented by John Hemperly, sales manager.

The grand champion steer of the Solanco Fair, weighing 1,397 pounds and exhibited by Katrina Frey, sold for $4.20 per pound to Ferguson and Hassler, represented by Chip Hassler, Jim Hassler, and Tim Hassler.

Reserve steer, exhibited by John Schmidt, weighing 1,144 pounds, sold for $1.40 per pound to Gray Musser of Musser's Market, Buck.

In all, there were 19 head of dairy beef, 46 head of lamb, 80 swine, and eight beef animals sold at the fair. Auctioneers were Larry Whyte, Randy Ranck, and Bob Martin.



Grand champion Solanco hog, exhibited by Tiffany Dean, was sold for $5.50 per pound to Farmer's First Bank, represented by Joe DeLong.

Dairy beef reserve, exhibited by Amber Kiser, was sold to Brett Holzhauer of Quarryville Agway for $1.30 per pound. From left, Holzhauer, daughter Leah, 8, and reserve champion.

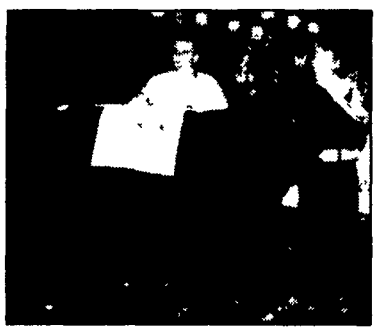
Reserve champion Solanco Fair hog, exhibited by Miriam Henry, sold for $3.50 per pound to the Advertiser, represented by John Hemperly, sales manager.



Reserve champion Solanco Fair steer, exhibited by John Schmidt, right, sold for $1.40 per pound to Gray Musser of Musser's Market, Buck.

Reserve champion Solanco Fair lamb, exhibited by Tiffany Dean, at right, sold for $8 per pound to Tom and Kathie Kreider, Coldwell Banker, Quarryville. The lamb was later resold for $5 per pound to Rep. John Barley with all proceeds from the resale to benefit the American Red Cross.

Challenge Of The Breeds At KILE

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Saturday, Oct. 6 evening arena program at the 2001 Keystone International Livestock Exposition (KILE), will be the "Challenge of the Breeds."

This show pits 10 internationally recognized horse breeds, the Appaloosa, Arabian, the Paint, Half-Arabian, Morgan, Palomino, Pinto, Quarter Horse, Percheron, and Saddlebred, against each other in an evening of fun and mastery. These animals have been chosen by their respective breed associations.

In order to compete, the horse must be owned by a Pennsylvania resident or by a bonafide member of the Pennsylvania Breed Association invited to participate.

The seven events in which each horse can be entered include:

- Pleasure driving — Horses are asked to perform both ways at a walk and trot.
- English pleasure In English tack, horses will perform both directions at a walk, trot, and a canter.
- Hunter hack — In addition to performing on the rail, the horse will be asked to take two jumps.
- Western pleasure — In western gear, the horse will walk, jog and lope in both directions.
- Western riding — The horse performs a prescribed course which demonstrates the performance of a well-mannered ranch horse.
- Barrel racing — A timed event in the clover-leaf pattern is performed by the horse.
- Timed obstacle trail class — Horses negotiate a series of obstacles encountered on the trail.

The horses will be judged at each of these events on a point system by two qualified judges. The winning horse will receive the distinction of being the Keystone Sovereign champion and will receive an award of $1,000. The reserve champion will be awarded $500. Placings will be paid through eighth place.

This marks the 12th time that a "Challenge of the Breeds" event has been conducted in Pennsylvania. The show will begin at 6:30 p.m. on Saturday evening, Oct. 6, at the Pennsylvania Farm Show Complex, Harrisburg. The admission fee for the show is $5.

Pennsylvania Hereford Association Sponsors Sale

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania Hereford Association is sponsoring the Show Case Hereford Sale, Oct. 6, at 6 p.m. in conjunction with the Keystone International Livestock Exposition (KILE) at the Farm Show Complex.

This is the first fall sale sponsored by the Pennsylvania Hereford Association. There will be 24 lots consisting of 11 junior prospect heifers, nine bred heifers, one cow-calf, one flush, and two bulls consigned by some of the top Hereford breeders in the east.

One of the featured lots of the sale is a flush offered by Margeaux Firestine with the proceeds to be donated to the Pennsylvania Junior Hereford Association. The flush is being offered on Salunga Bonita 133H. Salunga Bonita 133H and her heifer calf were the 2001 grand champion cow alf at the Maryland State Fair, class winner at the New York State Fair, and grand champion cow/calf at the York Interstate Fair.

Prior to the sale, the juniors will also have a silent auction of donated bull semen and a free embryo transplant and flush from EmTram. Juniors looking for show heifers do not want to miss this sale. The cattle being sold are progeny of the popular bulls in the Hereford industry.

All the cattle sold will be shown at the Regional Point Show Sunday, Oct. 7, at 3 p.m. For more information, contact an officer of the Pennsylvania Hereford Association.

Preceding the sale, at 5 p.m., there will be a buffet social and an opportunity to view the sale cattle.

Contact Michael H. Firestine, president, (717) 866-4185; Dustin Heeter, vice president, (717) 639-9159; Nance Stelow, secretary, (717) 528-8000; or Dan Dye, treasurer, (717) 222-8724.

Jarah Spahr exhibited the champion market goat. Her winner weighed an even 100 pounds and sold for $500 to the Community Courier/Engle Publishing, Mount Joy.

Reserve champion market goat, weighing 75 pounds, was exhibited by Dustin Leese. The final $325 bid was from Drover's Bank Division of Fulton Bank, Lebanon.

The sale generated more than $102,000 for the youth livestock show and sale participants. The 69 head of lambs averaged $207 with the champions and $182 without the champion prices included. Two dozen steers sold averaged $1,511 with champions, and $1,376 without. Averages on the 73 head of swine was $274 with champions and $264 without. Ten market goats averaged $236 with the champion and $191 without champion prices included.

China, Taiwan Accepted Into WTO

WASHINGTON, DC — Recently the World Trade Organization (WTO) formally approved WTO membership for China and Taiwan.

"Tariffs will be reduced from 45 percent to 12 percent and market access for U.S. beef will go into effect when China joins the WTO," National Cattlemen's Beef Association chief economist Chuck Lambert said. "When fully implemented, China's commitments could add approximately $2 billion a year to U.S. agricultural exports."

Congress has reviewed and approved China's trade status every year since 1980.

Permanent Normal Trade Relations (PNTR) was initiated after China and the United States reached an unprecedented trade agreement in November 1999.

China agreed to open its market, and in exchange, asked Congress to waive annual review and grant it permanent favorable trading status.

For beef producers, China has agreed to lower the tariffs on most U.S. beef products from 45 percent to 12 percent over a five-year period. Also favorable for U.S. beef is the three-year phase in that allows U.S. processors to sell directly to wholesalers and retailers in China. In addition, China has agreed to eliminate agricultural export subsidies.

"In recent years Taiwan has been an important market for US beef and variety meats purchasing $50-$60 million annually," Lambert said.China's and Taiwan's accession to the WTO are expected to be formally approved by trade ministers at Doha, Qatar in November.

284 Head Exhibited At Holstein Fall Championship Show

MICHELLE KUNJAPPU
Lancaster Farming Staff

Larry Schirm, Columbus, Ohio, judged the show.

Class winners of the open show received a wooden sign with a Holstein head motif, cow class winners received lamps, and youth division winners received plates in the same Holstein motif.

James and Nina Burdette won the annual Keystone Futurity and its $1,085.50 purse.

In the junior show, judge Schirm picked Scott Walton's aged cow for champion honors. "I'm a sucker for old cows," said Schirm. "She spells dairy from end to end. She's what it's all about." Scott, 17, Carlisle, is part of the family operated "Tower Vue Holsteins" dairy farm.

Scott's cow, "Hickory Green B Star Patty," is Excellent 92 and was purchased four years ago from a farm in Virginia. Scott has been exhibiting cattle most of his life.

Reserve champion placing went to a Andrew Stoner's "Bell-Stone RHero Selena," a senior 3-year-old with "a lot of udder and a tremendous frame." Andrew's cow also received the best bred-and-owned honor.

Andrew, 15, a sophomore at Waynesboro High School, has nine years of show ring experience. He is the son of Lynn and Rhonda Stoner, owners of Bell-Stone Farm, 100 acres of corn, alfalfa, and pasture.

The family milks 40 cows, and Andy shoulders much of the work of the dairy, according to his mother. The Stoners travel to approximately six shows per year, which include district shows, local fairs, the 4-H Roundup, and championship shows. They brought six head of their own animals to compete in the Pennsylvania Holstein Association's Fall Championship Show and other All-American events. They are, said Rhonda, surprised but excited with the placing.

In the open show, Craig Walton, Carlisle, of Tower Vue Holsteins, and "Tower Vue Canteen Deanna" took home senior and grand champion honors in the open show. Walton also won bets animal bred and owned with the cow. A lifetime farmer, Walton has been in the ring since he was four years old.

The Walton family milks 80 head and has 200 total on 530 acres that also includes crop land. Walton's grandparents, Harry and Aliene Thompson, parents David and Kathy, and uncle help to operate the farm.

Craig is joined by his brother Scott, junior champion winner of the show, and sister Becky. In addition to working on the farm Walton works as a fitter and showman at fairs and shows around Pennsylvania.

Walton's homebred 4-year-old is out of three Excellent dams and is also Excellent. "She's been fresh since June and has been over 100 pounds every test," he said. The cow is bred back for next year and will return to the show ring. The family participates in five shows per year, which includes the Farm Show. They exhibit mostly in Pennsylvania with an occasional trip to Madison.

Also in the open show Jim Kahler and Marion Andrews won reserve champion placing with "Bishcroft Integrity Jordana."

"Highlight Holsteins" is dairy farm in Wellsboro. Jim and his wife, Miffie, have three children who also exhibit cattle. The family milks 12 cows, all show animals. They travel to 4-5 shows per year and received a premiere exhibitor honor at the Northeast Championship Show at Tioga County Fairgrounds this fall. In addition to overseeing the dairy, Jim is a hoof trimmer.

Judge Larry Schirm is a sire analyst with Alta Genetics. He was raised on a Jersey farm near Columbus, Ohio, and is now stationed in the Columbus area. A nationally- and internationally-recognized judge of all breeds, Schirm has judged at many U.S. and worldwide shows.

MICHELLE KUNJAPPU
Lancaster Farming Staff

LAMPETER (Lancaster Co.) — Twenty 4-H members and 17 FFA members exhibited their lambs in two separate divisions at the West Lampeter Fair's Sheep Show Wednesday.

In her maiden voyage into the show ring, Robin Kendig came up big, winning the grand champion of the FFA division with her market lamb.

Robin, 16, a junior at Penn Manor High School, has been in FFA for three years. She is the daughter of Marty and Jeannette Kendig, Millersville. The family owns the 64-acre "Kendig Dairy," a former dairy farm that is now in crops. Robin decided to try the show ring "For the excitement," she said. "I had friends who said it was fun."

The show ring, and the thrill of victory, will bring her back for more next year. She plans to stick with lambs to exhibit.

Her 108-pound winning lamb, along with the other lamb Robin raised this year, remains nameless. "I don't name them. I decided that if I don't name them, I won't get attached to them" she said. Both lambs will be sold Friday evening.

She got the animal at the end of April and has been walking it once or twice a day and teaching it to lead and stand ever since, she said.

"I've got three lambs out there that I like," said judge Zerby of the 4-H light, medium, and heavyweight champion lambs. In the end, Zerby chose Allison Hughes' 114-pound medium weight lamb as the grand champion winner. "It's a clean-made lamb from end to end," said Zerby.

Allison began her day at the fair by winning both champion 4-H fitting and showmanship honors. Hughes, 15 didn't stop there, however, but also went on to take the grand champion placing in the market lamb show.

She is also planning to sell her lambs at the fair.

One of the especially sweet victories of the day was the showmanship title, which Allison said was one of her goals.

Her brother Andy was in the ring during the 4-H market swine competition and won medium weight champion and light heavyweight champion honors.

In addition to showing sheep Allison is involved with her school's band front and church activities. She is the daughter of Chet and Marie Hughes, Lancaster. Her father is a livestock extension agent for Lancaster County.

Allison got "Donnie," named for the lamb's former owner, in May. The lamb proved to be a high-strung animal and "I wasn't expecting to do this well with him in showmanship," she said. "He was hard to handle and wouldn't let me set his feet — he wouldn't sit still," she said. During the fair, however, the lamb settled down for competition.

Judge Clair Zerby, Knoxville, Tioga County, has 30 Hampshire and Hampshire-based ewes, plus 30 beef brood cows on his 220-acre "Carolair Farm," which he and his wife Carol operate.

After learning the skill on Penn State's judging team during his collegiate years, Zerby now judges two shows, mostly sheep shows, per year.

"It was a tremendous show," he said. "There was quality the whole way down the line. The kids did a good job of preparing their animals.

"There wasn't a bad lamb in the whole show. The top end was very competitive," he said.

Stop hurting my teats!
Now that the CoPulsation™ Milking System has been proven to be superior others falsely claim to do the same thing.
Only the CoPulsation™ Milking System has been proven to be effective in preventing mastitis and proven to stop teat canal destruction.
A recent study selecting the best 30 cows in a Cornell University herd found a total of 24 confirmed cases of mastitis caused by a conventional milking system proving that even the best management can't overcome the poor performance of a conventional system.
If it's not CoPulsation™, it simply isn't getting the job done right!
Sold with a full money-back superior performance guarantee.

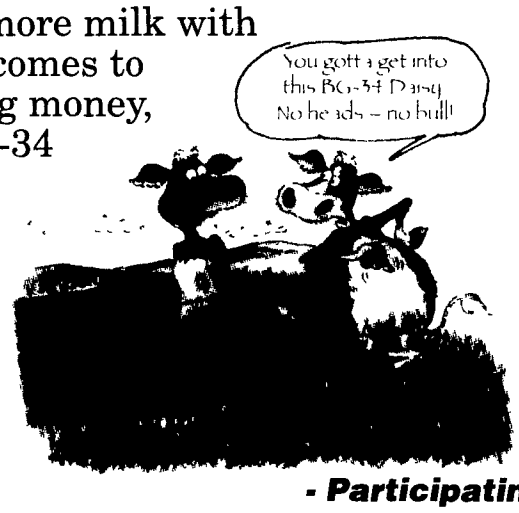
WANT MORE MILK?

Plant BG-34 Perennial Ryegrass this fall.

If you are serious about turning pasture into milk you want to grow Perennial Ryegrass. Barenbrug's BG-34 is late maturing, winter hardy and very dense. Plant together with Alice white clover and your cows will produce more milk with high butterfat. When it comes to making milk and making money, nothing compares to BG-34 perennial ryegrass.

Notice "Daisy" in the early-maturing stemmy pasture is skinny while the cow grazing BG-34 is nice and fat.



Tetra-Plus Perennial Ryegrass. Late maturing like BG-34 and very suitable for both grazing and cutting. Tetra-Plus can be planted late in the fall and is ready to graze or harvest next spring!

Huntingdon Teen Named Pennsylvania Dairy Princess

LOU ANN GOOD
Food And Family Features Editor

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — "Never in my wildest dreams .... I'm barely 16, I just got my driver's license. I came to have fun and do my best, but...." the words tumbled over each other as a stunned Rebecca Mowrer was selected last Saturday evening from 31 county dairy princesses to wear the state crown.

She may be one of the youngest, but the Huntingdon teenager exhibited a maturity beyond her years as she maintained poise and diligence throughout the two-day judging process last week, sponsored by Pennsylvania Dairy Princess and Promotion Services, Inc. (PDPPS).

"Becky" as she is most often called, completed individual and group interviews with judges and garnered firsts in presentation and scrapbook awards before being selected as one of seven finalists required to answer an impromptu question in the final round of judging.

Assisting Becky in representing state duties are First Alternate Sara Jennings, Bradford County, and Second Alternate Amy Moyer, Lebanon County. Other finalists included Holly Miller, Dauphin County; Emily Kirsch, Blair County; Ashley Judy, Centre County; and Kristin Gross, Berks County.

Becky is the daughter of S. Michael and Janet Mowrer, and has a brother Nathan, 18, and a sister Abby, 14. The family operates a 700-acre farm with a 200-head Holstein milking herd in Petersburg, Huntingdon County. Rebecca owns six head of the 225 young stock being raised as replacements.

In her award-winning presentation, Becky portrayed a supermarket employee harried from trying to keep dairy products fully stocked. She explained the different products available and the nutritional content. She encouraged people to try one of the new flavored milks such as her favorite, vanilla milk, in which the flavor is changed but not the nutrition.

"Next time at the grocery store, try a different flavor milk, but check for the Real Seal to know you are getting the real thing," Becky said.

First Alternate Sara Jenning's award-winning speech focused on the heart of agriculture wrapped in a patchwork quilt. "The six patches represent the six Pennsylvania dairy breeds," Sara said as she wove in threads, eye catching material, and binding as symbolic of the dairy industry's producers, processors, businesses, and consumers.

"Dairy farmers add $1.7 billion to the economy. If you ask me, that's a green block," Sara said. "Take pride in what you're doing for your family and your nation, and enjoy a glass of milk."

Second Alternate Amy Moyer's award-winning speech focused on the importance of the Real Seal. Amy said that when 52 people were asked if they knew what the Real Seal meant, only 22 knew the seal referred to real dairy products. But only 18 out of 50 knew what the seal stood for — assurance that the product is excellent and meets government standards.

Amy explained that the Real Seal is also assurance that the product is free of dirt, water, herbicides, pesticides, and antibiotics.

"When a farmer takes care of the cows, the cows take care of the farmer," she said of higher milk quality that commands a higher milk price.

The impromptu question posed by judges Steve Moff, Ohio; Prett Goslle, New York; Susan Crowell, Ohio, and Carissa Itle, Virginia, was, "if you could not be given a choice. "She's always been there for me even when I least expected. She means so much to me," Amy said.

As entertainment, the award-winning skits and speeches were presented to the audience. In addition to those presented by the dairy princess and alternates, Holly Miller portrayed a dairy fairy during her award-winning presentation. Combining song and words, Holly explained why Cinderella's step sister consistently made unhealthy choices. "Making your dreams come true doesn't require a lot of magic, just healthy choices," Holly said of picking foods that result in better health.

Contestants cast their votes for the friendliest competitor and selected Anne Fisher, Lancaster County, as Miss Congeniality. Anne is the 17-year-old daughter of Amos and Jane Fisher, Gap, part owners of Fisher and Thompson, a dairy equipment business.

As the state dairy princess, Becky receives $1,200, and the two alternates receive $600 each. Throughout the year, additional monies are earned by meeting incentive requirements.

Melinda (Mindy) Sue Wolfe finished her state reign by winning the coveted $300 Tina Schultz Memorial Award, given annually to the county dairy princess who is judged to have done the most outstanding job of representing the dairy industry within her county.

In addition to representing the state, Mindy continued her role as dairy princess for the SUN Area, which includes four counties. Mindy visited every school district in her four-county area and conducted a two-hour radio talk show every Friday morning throughout her reign. She said that one of her greatest achievements was holding a "Real Seal" challenge for one week at a local school and seeing cafeteria milk sales increase more than 35 percent that week.

Mindy brushed aside the many who you are, who would you most like to be, and explain why?"

Becky named her mother and explained, "She's a very strong woman who has lived a wonderful life. She's my hero and inspiration."

First Alternate Sara Jennings said she'd want to be the best dairy farmer possible and take advantage of some of the opportunities she has missed because her dad died at an early age.

The 21-year-old daughter of Nancy Jennings and the late Ronald Jennings has a 12-year-old brother Jeff. Sara enjoys helping on her grandparents' 600-acre farm, Jennings Acres, which has been in the family for 137 years. They have 85 head of Holsteins and Charolais.

As the second alternate dairy princess, Amy will combine dairy promotion activities with her part-time job as a dairy cattle fitter and chores on the family's 128-acre One Hill Farm in Womelsdorf, Lebanon County. Parents Martin and Melissa Moyer, and Amy and her siblings, Jeff, Kristen, and Sarah, milk 62 of the 160-head herd composed of Holsteins and Brown Swiss. Amy owns 10 of the head.

Amy also answered the impromptu question by saying she would choose to be her mom if

In addition to the three contestants selected to represent the state were these four finalists, from left, Emily Kirsh, Blair County; Holly Miller, Dauphin County; Ashley Judy, Centre County; and Kristin Gross, Berks County.

New Beef Brochure Designed For Year-Round Entertaining

DENVER, Colo. — The beef dustry is producing a new bro- ıure that will help consumers ıtertain with style all year ınd. Nearly 450,000 copies of e ' checkoff-funded "Cooking r Friends" will be available in :ptember for distribution to ınsumers and food editors nationwide.

The brochure showcases beef for all four seasons and various entertaining occasions. It targets busy women ages 25 to 52, and features roasts, flank steak, fully cooked beef crumbles and boneless beef round or chuck in recipes for an appetizer, stew, tacos and a roast dinner.

"Cooking for Friends" focuses on underutilized beef cuts to help increase the overall value of the beef carcass. It positions beef as a contemporary and convenient food, and offers additional beef information and recipes to consumers and the media by providing the www.beef.org Web site address.

Many state beef councils will personalize and help distribute the brochure. While designed for entertaining throughout the year, the brochure is being produced now to get a jump on the prime holiday season coming up this fall.

Copies of the brochure can be obtained by sending a self-addressed, stamped # 10 business-size envelope to: National Cattlemen's Beef Association, Dept. PRCFF, P.O. Box 670, Bloomingdale, IL 60108-0670 (one brochure per envelope).

Our pumpkins are peekin' out.

Now a week officially into fall, the appearance of these pudgy, orange favorites add a cheery, festive touch as sort of last hurrah of the harvest season. Pumpkin popularity only grows and they're already popping up all over at market displays and roadside retailers.

Our overweight and slightly-cockeyed ones are still clinging to the vines crawling all over the west bank of the yard. But their leaves are limp and fading as the plant pumps its last push of nutrients and moisture into finishing off the seed bearers of successive generations. While our yield is small in number — three — each is fatter and heavier than I can possibly budge by myself.

We may have to resort to a push-pull-roll-drag maneuver to wiggle them onto the bucket of the skidloader for delivery to the porch. Years of experience — and stringy-orange messes have taught me that the best site to butcher up a pumpkin is somewhere outside. Any site is OK so long as it's close to a hose to wash away remnants of icky, sticking pumpkin innards.

Pumpkins, of assorted sizes, shapes, and colors, are just one of the signs screaming that another growing season is waning fast. Another is the piles of yellow corn turning up at all sorts of spots around the farm, from dusty mounds of fallout below the high-moisture corn unloading auger to a bucketful at the basement porch gleaned from stalks knocked down near the garden by the forage harvester.

That pail of yellow ears became a fatal temptation for at least one of our maple tree squirrels. They grew pretty cat-savvy recently, to the point of hanging not far up the tree trunks while brazenly teasing our felines.

While they got away with such nonsense with our lazy tomcats, the bushy tails had less luck with our Mama Cat, a dedicated hunter of rodents. Mama Cat has expertly honed the techniques of waiting patiently without moving a muscle and then making a lightning-fast strike. Rats, mice, squirrels, Mama Cat will tackle anything within reason when she's in hunting mode to feed her family.

Another favorite food of the squirrels, sunflower seeds, are part of the seasonal scene outside the dairy barn. In basic raw form, they remain stuck in dark, dried clusters shriveling on tall stalks. The sunflowers were a dual-purpose planting, first for cheery cutting flowers, then going to seed for our feathered buddies. Local goldfinches and chickadees especially love to dine on the offering, pecking away at the seeds while hanging sideways onto the dried-up heads like acrobats.

At one time, I lopped the heads to store for winter use, only to lose them to mice and mildew. Letting the birds dine direct seems a much more natural approach. And is less work.

Clumps of cattails along the pond have set thick, velvety-brown heads, each containing thousands of tiny seeds attached to fuzzy "floaters" which waft them off on the slightest breeze — and clings to everything it touches. The heads make lovely focal pieces in dried arrangements and seasonal decorations, until they begin to disintegrate into fluff.

Grandsons Josh and Caleb like to whack the dried cattail heads on the ground and watch them burst into fluffy explosion, an activity one wants to stay well upwind of unless you're into the tarred-and-feathered look.

A favorite fall front porch decoration here is simply a big armful of yellow goldenrod plunked into a basket. Even as it dries, the goldenrod turns a mellow beige hue, ideal companion material for other dried plant items. I studied for a while where the nearest stand of goldenrod was growing, then realized on a pond walk one night at dusk that a clump was ripening down over a bank just feet from the path. Mission accomplished.

And a new seasonal dried item has turned up in our neighborhood, evidence of how plants adapt and migrate to new growing sites. For years, it has taken special effort in distant locations to gather stalks of teasel, with its dried seed heads looking for all the world like miniature prickly porcupines. Over the last decade, this thistle relative has gradually moved south from the grassy wild meadows and roadsides of more northern areas. This year, dried teasel heads atop tall, prickly stems happily wave from among the goldenrod in a fence row next to a nearby cornfield.

Stands of the prickly brown teasel heads are the newest signs of the season in our neighborhood.

And, as weeds go, at least it's a useful one.

September Is Ovarian Cancer Detection Month

KATHERINE WENZEL
Registered Dietitian

MERCER (Mercer Co.) — I never knew my grandmother on my father's side. She died of cancer before I was born. She died from ovarian cancer at the age of 55. My father tells me that she knew something was wrong—she had the subtle symptoms that many women tend to ignore for a time. She had abdominal swelling—due to the tumor enlargement or from fluid collecting in the abdomen, mild digestive problems, and some back and leg pain.

She delayed seeking medical attention despite symptoms. She, like many women, mistakenly attributed her symptoms to aging, menopause, or stress.

Ovarian cancer is the deadliest female reproductive malignancy—claiming the lives of almost 14,000 American women, with 23,000 new cases diagnosed each year.

Those who are at higher risk for ovarian cancer are women who began menstruating before age 12, reached menopause after age 50, or have not had children.

Ovarian cancer is rare before age 40, with the incidence rising after age 50. Increased risk is also associated with a personal or family history of breast, colorectal, uterine, or bladder cancer. Additional symptoms of ovarian cancer can include a change in bladder or bowel habits, and pain in the pelvis, lower back, or legs. Bloating, stomach pain, gas, and loss of appetite are also common.

Unfortunately, the symptoms of ovarian cancer may not become obvious until the later stages; therefore, only about a quarter of cases are diagnosed before metastasis. Some ovarian cancers can be detected during a routine pelvic exam, though many early tumors cannot.

There are two relatively noninvasive tests to detect early disease—a blood test for a protein called CA-125 and the transvaginal ultrasonograph (TVS). Blood levels of CA-125 are elevated in about 50 percent of women with early disease and about 80 percent of those with advanced disease. A positive finding requires further evaluation with TVS, a painless 15-minute imaging study that can produce a sonogram, which can help to distinguish a malignant tumor from normal tissue or a benign cyst. Most experts agree that CA-125 testing and TVS are too imperfect to be used for routine screening in all older women, however, the tests are highly effective when used to screen high-risk women or to evaluate women with symptoms.

The good news is that ovarian cancer can be successfully treated. Up to 90 percent of patients are cured (cancer-free after five years) if they are treated before the cancer cells spread to other parts of the body.

For early detection, you must take a proactive role in your own health care. If you experience any of the symptoms, including unexplained abdominal or gastrointestinal discomfort, see your physician. If you are not currently under the care of a gynecologist, don't hesitate to ask for a referral from your family physician.

September is Ovarian Cancer Awareness Month; make your appointment to get screened today. Encourage your friends and family to do the same.

I know I will be encouraging my mother to get her screening. Unfortunately, my grandmother is not here—or I would offer to drive her to the doctor.

Do You Suffer From Fibromyalgia?

When I was introduced to New Image I was 50 pounds over weight and suffered from fibromyalgia I was so depressed and in pain the majority of the time. I was taking steroids and four other medications, one of which made me so 'groggy' I could hardly get out of bed and another gave me ulcers I began taking New Image secretly because I thought my family would make fun of me After a month, I discovered I had lost eight pounds and seven inches Wow! Then it dawned on me, I was feeling better, the depression and pain were gone In two months I was off all medications "I feel SUPERIFIC!" Now, two years later I have lost 43 pounds and 30 inches Thank you New Image for giving me a new life again Judy Swift - Mt Washington, KY

September is National College Savings Month

According to the College Savings Plan Network (CSPN), the greatest financial worry of most Americans families used to be "Will I have enough to live on after retirement?"

Some public opinion polls, however, indicate that the greatest worry now is "How will I be able to afford a college education for my children?"

CSPN believes that in the future, families will want to pay for college without relying on credit or loans. To address this worry, many state governments have created innovative college savings programs designed to make saving for college easier for the average family. The options available are affordable, promote planning, and meet the needs of most families.

So how does a state-sponsored savings plan work? Most states offer a variety of options. Section 529 (part of the United States Code that governs Qualified State Tuition Programs) plans come in two flavors: prepaid tuition and a college savings plan.

Pennsylvania's prepaid tuition plan name is the Pennsylvania Tuition Account Program or TAP. A college savings plan specific to Pennsylvania is being finalized and may be ready by November 2001 so stay tuned. The good news is that there are no income limits for those who contribute to Section 529 plans. Both types of programs are "qualified state tuition programs" under the Internal Revenue Code Section 529. This allows earnings to be exempt from federal taxes beginning January 1, 2002.

Prepaid tuition plans are just what they sound like. Your investment buys a given number of tuition credits at any of the state's eligible colleges or universities or an equal payment to private and out-of-state institutions at today's prices. So, regardless of what increases occur in tuition rates in the future, the number of semesters or years purchased today are guaranteed for the future. The state agrees to pay those costs later at whatever price that might be.

If your child opts not to attend that institution or attend college at all, what you get in return varies. Some programs only give back your contributions with little to no return on your investment.

Prepaid tuition plans were attractive when college costs were rising eight or nine percent a year in the early 1990s. Lately, tuition inflation has been around 4 to 5 percent at private schools and lower at public schools. Thus, prepaid tuition plans may not be as alluring. However, if inflation does take off again, prepaid tuition plans may be an attractive option.

Another factor to consider with prepaid tuition plans is will the institutions participating in the plan have the program of study of interest to your child IF they choose to attend college. The other Section 529 choice is the college savings plans. College savings plans are basically investment programs that you have little to no say about the investment strategy. State programs are managed by professional money managers much like a pension plan or a mutual fund. After you open an account and make a deposit with your state (or another state if yours doesn't have a program that you like) the plan's manager takes over, putting the money in a combination of stocks, bonds, and mutual funds. In college savings plans, the money is invested more aggressively while your child is very young and more conservatively as the child approaches college age. Unlike a prepaid tuition plan, a college savings plan does not lock in future tuition costs at today's prices. Instead, it has the potential to grow through the years at a rate that could trail, equal or exceed future inflationary increases in college costs. Money in the plan grows tax-deferred and will be tax exempt beginning Jan. 1, 2002. Money accumulated in college savings plans may be used for any qualified college expense such as tuition, fees, books, supplies, room and board, and equipment at any qualifying school in any state, and may be shifted to siblings. But it must be used by the time your child turns thirty or the funds will be taxed and penalized.

So why invest in these plans? The college savings plans allow you to put away more money than the Education IRA with no income limitations and superior tax advantages. In addition, they're handy estate-planning tools. Each grandparent, with specific provisions, can put up to $50,000 apiece into a child's account in a lump sum (it counts as five successive $10,000 annual gifts), which moves a significant sum of money out of any estate and gives that money more time to grow. The disadvantage of the college savings plan is that you have no control over how the money is invested, and some of these plans are very conservative. If you're disappointed with the returns and pull out the money early, you'll face taxes and penalties. Although the account is for a specific child, the money in these accounts is considered a parental asset when it goes into the financial aid equation so the money withdrawn in these accounts may reduce your amount of financial aid. That is why college savings plans are best for families who aren't counting on financial aid.

How can you learn more about Section 529 plans which include the college savings or prepaid tuition plan? Call the college or university that you are interested in, your local state representative or a reliable investment firm.

Falling... for Great Desse

With fall in the air and misty mornings everywhere, remember to harvest some great desserts for the time spent indoors.

Dinners can be topped off with quick and easy Creamy Banana Pudding or delicious Tiramisu Cake. You'll be complimented on the fruits of your labor, when there really was no labor at all. And when the kids come a'calling, bake up some Crunchy Clusters or Peanut Magic Cookie Bars. New twists on two old favorites—pretzels and the Magic Cookie Bar.

But, the greatest delight of all is to treat yourself to some free time. Add a little spice to this special time and try some Creamy Spiced Tea. It's the perfect blend of cinnamon, nutmeg, cloves and orange, and the perfect way to Fall Back and Enjoy!

CRUNCHY CLUSTERS

Makes about 3 dozen

- 1 (12-ounce) package semi-sweet chocolate chips or 3 (6-ounce) packages butterscotch-flavored chips
- 1 (14-ounce) can Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk (NOT evaporated milk)
- 1 (3-ounce) can chow mein noodles or 2 cups pretzel sticks, broken into 1/2-inch pieces
- 1 cup dry-roasted peanuts or whole roasted almonds

1 Line baking sheet with waxed paper. In heavy saucepan over low heat, melt chips with sweetened condensed milk. Remove from heat.

2 In large bowl, combine noodles and peanuts; stir in chocolate mixture.

3 Drop by tablespoonfuls onto prepared baking sheet; chill 2 hours or until firm. Store loosely covered at room temperature.

Microwave Directions: In 2-quart glass measure, combine chips and sweetened condensed milk. Cook on 100% power (HIGH) 3 minutes, stirring after 1 1/2 minutes. Stir until smooth. Proceed as directed above.

PEANUT MAGIC COOKIE BARS

Makes 24 servings

- 1/2 cup (1 stick) butter or margarine
- 42 Nilla Wafers, finely crushed (about 1 1/2 cups crumbs)
- 1 (14-ounce) can Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk (NOT evaporated milk)
- 1 (12-ounce) package semi-sweet chocolate chunks (2 cups)
- 1 1/3 cups flaked coconut
- 1 cup chopped peanuts

1. Preheat oven to 350°F (325°F for glass dish). Melt butter in 13 x 9 x 2-inch pan in oven.
2. Sprinkle crumbs over butter; pour sweetened condensed milk evenly over crumbs. Top with chocolate chunks, coconut and peanuts, pressing down firmly with fork.
3. Bake for 25 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool completely; refrigerate if desired. Cut into 24 bars. Store covered at room temperature.

TIRAMISU CAKE

Makes 12 servings

- 2 (8-ounce) packages cream cheese, softened
- 3/4 cup powdered sugar
- 1/2 cup strong black coffee, divided
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 (12-ounce) container frozen whipped topping, thawed, divided
- 48 Nilla Wafers, divided
- Cocoa powder, additional Nilla Wafers and chocolate-covered coffee beans, for garnish

1. Beat cream cheese, sugar, 1/4 cup coffee and vanilla in medium bowl with electric mixer at medium speed until creamy. Stir in 3 1/2 cups whipped topping.
2. Place 24 wafers in circular fashion on bottom of 9-inch springform pan. Brush or drizzle with coffee.
3. Spread 1/2 of the cream cheese mixture over wafers in pan; repeat layers, brushing wafers with remaining coffee and ending with cream cheese mixture.
4. Cover; refrigerate 4 hours or overnight. Garnish with cocoa powder, remaining whipped topping, additional wafers and coffee beans.

CREAMY SPICED TEA

Makes 2 quarts

- 3/4 cup unsweetened instant tea
- 1 teaspoon finely grated orange peel
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
- 1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1 (14-ounce) can Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk (NOT evaporated milk)
- 6 1/3 cups water

1 In large saucepan, combine tea, orange peel and spices. Add sweetened condensed milk; mix well.

2 Over medium heat, slowly stir in water. Heat thoroughly but do not boil. Refrigerate any leftovers.

Tip: May be stored in refrigerator up to 5 days. Mix well and reheat before serving.

CREAMY BANANA PUDDING

Makes 8 servings

- 1 (14-ounce) can Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk (NOT evaporated milk)
- 1 1/2 cups cold water
- 1 (4-serving size) package instant vanilla pudding & pie filling
- 2 cups heavy cream, whipped, divided
- 48 Nilla Wafers, divided
- 3 large bananas, sliced
- Additional Nilla Wafers and banana slices

1. Combine sweetened condensed milk and water in large bowl. Add pudding mix; beat for 2 minutes with mixer at medium speed. Refrigerate for 5 minutes. Fold in 3 cups whipped cream.
2. Place 3 wafers and a few banana slices in the bottom of each of 8 (12-ounce) dessert dishes. Spoon 1/2 cup pudding into each dish.
3. Top with remaining wafers, banana slices and pudding. Cover; refrigerate 4 hours or overnight.
4. Garnish with remaining whipped cream, additional wafers and bananas.

Creamy Banana Pudding can be prepared in large serving bowl. Prepare pudding mixture as directed above. Spoon 1 cup pudding mixture into bottom of 2 1/2-quart glass serving bowl. Top with one-half each wafers, banana slices and remaining pudding. Repeat layers, ending with pudding. Refrigerate and garnish as above. Refrigerate leftovers.

BLACK FOREST CAKE

1¼ cups all-purpose flour
⅔ cup sugar
¼ cup unsweetened cocoa powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
1 cup water
⅓ cup cooking oil
1 tablespoons white vinegar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 egg whites
1½ cups reduced fat, frozen whipped topping, thawed
1 cup reduced-calorie cherry pie filling

Spray a 9-inch round baking pan with nonstick spray. Set pan aside. In a medium size bowl, combine flour, sugar, cocoa powder, and baking soda. Add water, oil, vinegar, and vanilla. Stir until thoroughly combined.

In a medium bowl, beat the egg whites until they form stiff peaks. Fold into batter. Pour the batter into the baking pan.

Bake at 350 degrees about 25 minutes or until toothpick inserted near center comes out clean. Cool cake. Remove from pan. Spread whipped topping over top and sides of cake. Top with pie filling. Makes 8 servings.

Only one of the 31 contestants in the Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Pageant could capture the title of Pennsylvania Dairy Princess. But each contestants plays a vital role in promoting the dairy industry.

In hundreds of appearances, county dairy princesses distribute recipes using dairy products to encourage increased milk consumption. A booklet printed with favorite recipes from each of the contestants is distributed by Pennsylvania Dairy Princess & Promotion Services, Inc.

Ashley Judy, Centre County, a finalist in the pageant, submitted this recipe, which is sure to keep you "falling for desserts."

NO-BAKE LIME MOUSSE CAKE

Bottom Layer:
2 cups ground gingersnap cookies (about 38 cookies)
2 tablespoons granulated sugar
5 tablespoons butter, melted

Combine ground cookies and sugar in a food processor. Add melted butter and process, using on/off pulsation, until moist clumps form. Press mixture into bottom and one-inch up the sides of a 10-inch springform pan, set aside.

Filling Layer:
6 tablespoons fresh lime juice, approximately 3 limes
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
2½ cups chilled whipping cream
9-ounces good quality white chocolate, chopped
3 8-ounce packages cream cheese, room temperature
1 tablespoon finely chopped lime zest (peel)
1 cup sugar

Place lime juice in a small bowl. Sprinkle gelatin over to soften. Let stand. Bring ½ cup cream to simmer in a heavy medium size saucepan. Remove from heat. Add white chocolate and stir until melted and smooth. Stir in gelatin mixture. Cool slightly. Using an electric mixer, beat cream cheese, sugar, and lime peel in large bowl. Blend until smooth and creamy. Slowly beat white chocolate mixture into cream cheese mixture. Using clean dry beaters, beat remaining 2 cups whipping cream in another large bowl until it forms peaks. Fold whipped cream into white chocolate mixture. Pour filling into prepared springform pan, on top of bottom layer. Cover and refrigerate overnight. Release pan sides from cake. Transfer cake to platter. Garnish with lime slices and sprig of fresh mint if desired. This cake can be prepared 2 days in advance; keep refrigerated. Serves 12-14.

QUESTION — Barbara Randall, Bloomfield, N.Y., recently purchased instant Clear Jel at a bulk food store and would like recipes and advice for using it. She also saw regular Clear Jel and a product called Dutch Jel and wanted to know, is the latter item for jams and jellies? She didn't get a company brochure.

ANSWER — Mike Cannon, Montgomery Co., wants a recipe for baked lima beans that taste similar to that served at Shady Maple, East Earl. Thanks to Mrs. David McDowell, Rising Sun, Md., who writes that she hasn't ever tasted those served by Shady Maple, but she hasn't found a better recipe than the one she has benn using for 50 years.

Baked Limas

2 slices bacon
¼ cup minced onion
½ cup chopped celery
⅔ to 1 cup King Syrup
⅓-½ cup ketchup
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 pound dried baby limas

Soak baby limas overnight. Cook until tender, about 1-1½ hours. Save ¾-1 cup liquid from beans.

Fry bacon. Remove from pan and saute onion and celery until very tender. Combine all ingredients and put in 11¾x7½x1¾-inch baking pan.

Bake at 350 degrees for one hour until bubbly.

ANSWER — Joan Chickering, South Deerfield, Mass., requested a recipe for a cooked cucumber soup. Here is one from an anonymous reader.

Quick Cucumber Soup Cockaigne

Bring to a boil:
2 cups strong chicken broth
Drop in about:
1½ cups peeled, seeded, diced cucumbers
Simmer until translucent, about 15 minutes.
Add:
1 can condensed cream of chicken soup
Blended with:
½ cup chicken broth/ Again bring to a boil.
Now add:
½ cup canned crab meat, shrimp, or minced clams
1 teaspoon fresh parsley or chervil
Heat but do not boil and serve at once. Makes about 5 cups.

ANSWER — A reader would like ideas for using garden produce. Thanks for two recipes from Tessie Kizis, Newsoms, Va.

Tomato Pudding

1 quart tomatoes, peeled, chopped
6 slices stale bread or cold biscuits
1 cup sugar
½ cup butter
Salt and pepper to taste

Mix all ingredients and bake in 350 degree oven for one hour. Serves 6.

Corn Pudding

2 cups corn, fresh or frozen
2 eggs, beaten light
1 tablespoon flour
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1 tablespoon butter
1½ cups milk
1 teaspoon vanilla (optional)

Combine corn with beaten eggs, set aside. Combine flour, sugar, salt, and pepper. Add milk and beat smoothly. Combine butter with corn and egg mixture. Melt some butter in an 8x8-inch baking dish. Pour mixture into dish and stir lightly. Bake at 350 degrees for 45-50 minutes or until set and lightly browned.

Here are some more garden produce recipes from Babe Hopkins, Avondale.

Carrot Souffle

1 pound fresh carrots, cooked or 16-ounce can
3 eggs
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
⅓ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ cup butter, melted
Dash nutmeg
Dash cinnamon

Put freshly cooked or canned carrots in blender with all other ingredients and blend well. Pour into greased one-quart casserole and bake at 350 degrees for 35 minutes.

Topping:
1 tablespoon butter, melted
¼ cup crushed cornflakes
2 tablespoons light brown sugar
½ cup crushed nuts

This casserole can be made with or without topping; however, if the topping is used, put it on top of mixture before cooking.

Zucchini Nut Bread

3 eggs
2 cups sugar
1 cup vegetable oil
3½ cups flour
1½ teaspoon baking soda
1½ teapsoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¾ teaspoon baking powder
2 cups grated zucchini (unpared)
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup raisins
1 cup chopped nuts

Beat eggs and gradually beat in sugar. Add oil. Combine dry ingredients and add to first mixture alternately with zucchini. Stir in vanilla, raisins, and nuts. Pour mixture into two greased and lightly floured loaf pans and bake at 350 degrees on lowest oven rack for about 55 minutes. Let stand 10 minutes before removing from pans. Place on wire rack to cool.

Zucchini Casserole

1 onion, grated
1 stick butter, melted
3 eggs
1 cup seasoned stuffing mix
1 cup cheddar cheese, grated, reserve ¼ cup

Mix together all ingredients. Put into 9x13-inch baking pan. Sprinkle ¼ cup cheese on top. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes.

ANSWER — Here is a different version for French fried onion rings requested by a Somerset County reader.

Best Ever Onion Rings

3 large onions (about 9-11-ounces each) peeled, trimmed
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon paprika
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup non-alcoholic beer
Vegetable oil

Cut onions crosswise into ½-inch slices; pull apart into rings. (Refrigerate broken or end pieces for other uses). Mix flour, paprika, salt, and pepper in a large bowl. Add beer, stirring with a wire whip until foam is gone.

Baked version: Toss onion rings with batter and transfer to plate, letting excess drip off as you transfer. Heat one tablespoon oil in a large nonstick skillet (11-12-inches) over medium-high heat. Place about half the onion rings in single layer in heated skillet and cook until browned, turning once, about 1½ minutes on each side. Repeat with remaining onions. Transfer to ungreased shallow baking pans or cookie sheets, arranging in singler layer. Bake at 425 degrees for six minutes or until crisp. Makes six servings.

Deep-fried version: Heat at least 2-inches oil in a deep-fryer for 5-10 minutes or according to fryer directions. (If fryer has a temperature adjustment, set it at 375 degrees and heat until light goes out). Drop batter-coated rings into oil, (about 10-20 at a time). Fry 2-4 minutes or until crisp. Drain on paper towels before serving. Makes six servings.

ANSWER — Here's a recipe from Jessica Bross, dairy maid for Lebanon County. She writes that this is a quick recipe packed with calcium, vitamins, and other minerals that your body needs.

Turkey, Veggie, Cheese Wrap

4-ounces turkey breast (sliced or cubed)
1 cup shredded iceberg lettuce
1 large tomato (cut into wedges)
1 large green pepper (cut, short strips)
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
⅓ cup Ranch dressing
4 8-inch flat tortillas

Place turkey across tortilla. Combine tomatoes, peppers, lettuce, and toss with dressing. Place veggies on top of turkey. Add cheese and roll. 4 servings.

Natural Or Organic?

Up until recent years, you wouldn't have been able to find a definitive difference, because there were no national standards for those terms. That could be the reason why one recent survey by the polling organization Roper Starch Worldwide found that 75 percent of Americans don't know the difference between organic and all-natural foods.

However, the U.S. Department of Agriculture is putting national organic standards into place, and with them come definitions of all sorts. More details in a moment, but first, the short answer.

Basically, "organic" has to do with how the food is grown or, in the case of meat, how the animals are raised.

"Natural" has to do with how a food product is processed. Natural foods — apples, beef, corn or pork — can be organic or not. On the other hand, organic foods can potentially be processed into foods that aren't classified as natural — such as crackers made with organically grown wheat but made with non-natural preservatives or artificial flavors or colors, for example.

Previous to the national rule, many states had their own rules and regulations defining what made something "organic." Between now and October 2002, state officials and local farmers are busy figuring out how to mesh any differences between the old state organic standards and the new federal ones.

Beginning Oct. 21, 2002, consumers will start seeing the new national USDA organic label on foods.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

When I don't feel like writing about my present life with a husband who has a "bum leg," I reach back to an old diary and reread it.

This is a list of things from the last week of September in a diary of 50 years ago. In 1951, we had a 3-year-old girl and a 10-month-old boy and lived on my parents' farm. My garden was larger than it is today, and I sold some vegetables.

We raised some tobacco and in September had to haul some away to be hung in a relative's barn. My father's metal silo split in half one night and neighbors helped to move the silage to our silo. I baked cakes and we fed 10 men who helped. It was the same week that another neighbor was killed by a dynamite blast as he attempted to remove rocks from a field.

My days were filled with caring for our children and canning food. In the morning, I always washed the milking equipment with a brush. After I bottled milk for our use, I'd cook "cornstarch." Really, it was vanilla or chocolate pudding.

Our little boy did not like to be in the playpen. He would much rather crawl on a dirty floor or sit on the tricycle. When he was a little older, he rode the tricycle round and round in our house through three rooms.

Nancy talked a lot and one day saw a "pitter-patter" but quickly corrected herself and said a "caterpillar." She was able to help me a lot with small jobs. We liked to walk to the Conestoga River and throw stones in the water — when we found time.

Our entertainment was square dances on Saturday night, which we attended for more than 50 years. My husband often made ice cream for the occasion. As they say, "Those were the days."

Landis Valley Museum Plans Annual Harvest Days

LANDIS VALLEY (Lancaster Co.) — Harvest Days at Landis Valley Museum, Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 6 and 7, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., is Lancaster County's premiere fall event. This year marks the 42nd anniversary of Harvest Days, a special weekend where visitors can visit the "good ole days" and see firsthand how farm and home autumn activities were accomplished in the Pennsylvania German communities.

Stroll the beautiful grounds of Landis Valley Museum and experience harvest time as it was in bygone eras from 1740 to 1940. Talk to the 18th century backwoodsmen in their camp near the log farm; see how the brick oven became the dry house to make apple snitz; learn about the use of oxen, and watch as the newly constructed hay barracks, made completely by hand by a group of timber farmers, is roofed with rye straw thatch. Move along the time line and see some early farm equipment in operation that was time and labor saving even though the power to operate them came from a double mule tread that could be purchased for $78.30 through Sears Roebuck & Co., in their 1902 catalog.

There will be more than 70 living history activities from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day, including traditional craft demonstrations, harvest activities and features such as one-room school lessons and Dr. Abernathy's Medicine Show. Take a horse drawn wagon ride and enjoy good food while listening to some toe-tapping music by the Lancaster County Folk Music and Fiddlers Society.

Illustrator Frieman F. Stoltzfus and calligrapher Carol J. Haile will be signing copies of their newest picture book, "The Christmas Story," on the porch of The Weathervane from 1 to 4 p.m.

"The Christmas Story," available now at the museum store combines Gospel verses in fraktur-style calligraphy with illustrations of Amish life to tell the story of the birth of Christ.

Stoltzfus, a full-time artist, is a Lancaster County native reared in the Amish-Mennonite tradition. Haile, a juried calligrapher with the Pennsylvania Guild of Craftsmen, traces her lineage to the Schwenkfelder District of Montgomery County, a region known for frakturs created there in the 1800s.

Apple Dumplings And Music At Ephrata Cloister

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Imagine a comfortable autumn day: the trees ablaze with color, the smell of freshly baked apple dumplings in the air, the sights and sounds of the past alive. This is what awaits visitors to the Ephrata Cloister on the weekend of Oct. 6 and 7 when the National Historic Landmark celebrates an autumn gathering.

Highlighting the event will be the annual Apple Dumpling sale on Saturday, Oct. 6, beginning at 9:30 a.m. Sunday will feature the music of the Ephrata Cloister with performances by the Ephrata Cloister Chorus in the historic meetinghouse at 2 p.m., 3 p.m., and 4 p.m.

"The apple dumplings have become a traditional time to visit the site, meet friends, and support the preservation of this historic treasure," said Michael Showalter, museum educator. The first of the tasty Pennsylvania German confections made of apples, spices and sugar all wrapped in dough come out of the oven at 9:30 a.m. and the gathering continues until the last dumpling is sold. Vegetable soup, hot dogs, coffee and apple cider are also served on Saturday, and take-outs are available. Proceeds for the Apple Dumpling Day sales support the "Back to the Cloister Fund," an endowment used to purchase original 18th century artifacts created at the German religious community.

Sunday's performances of music will include original 18th century compositions by Conrad Beissel, founder of Ephrata, along with other early American composers. "Hearing that special music in the original building is a real treat," says Showalter.

Ephrata Cloister is located in Ephrata Borough, Lancaster County, on Route 322 at the intersection with Route 272. The historic site is open Monday through Saturday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday from noon to 5 p.m. For more information, call (717) 733-6600.

Safety Workshop For Kids

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

BEDFORD (Bedford Co.) — Bedford County children had a day of fun and learning at the Farm Safety Day Camp held at the Bedford County Fairgrounds 4-H Center.

Vital and life saving lessons were given on fire safety, ATV and lawn mower safety, chain saw safety, and animal safety. There were lesson in first aid and what to do if you are first on the scene to an accident.

Last year there were 44 deaths in the state of Pennsylvania between the ages of 2 and 14 with farm related accidents.

UPMC Memorial Hospital and the Safe Kids program donated portable safety kits including, fanny packs, and goggles.

Other sponsors included the Department of Conservation Natural Resources, the Altoona Fire Company, Penn State Cooperative Extension, Bedford Area Ambulance and the American Red Cross. Monetary sponsors were the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, Progressive Farmer, Everett Cash Mutual, the Tri-County Chapter of National Association of Insurance Women and the American Trauma Society, Pennsylvania Division.

A total of 201 attended the all day program, which included a picnic lunch.

The Farm Safety Day was conducted to make the farm a safe place for children. Last year in Pennsylvania, 44 children between the ages of 2-14 died from farm-related accidents.

Fun and safety prevailed at the the Farm Safety Day Camp, Bedford County.

A giant pumpkin patch and free pumpkins for the kids to draw on as well as free hay rides around the market are just a few of the featured activities for families at Reading Terminal Market's first annual Harvest Festival on Oct. 6 from 10 a.m.-4 p.m.

Attend Harvest Festival At Philadelphia Market

PHILADELPHIA — Taken a hay ride lately?

Got a hankering for some hot apple cider?

How about painting a pumpkin? Autumn is here and that means it's harvest time at Reading Terminal Market, 12th and Arch Streets. This October the market joins the Book and The Cook: October, The American Dairy Association/Dairy Council Middle Atlantic and The Pennsylvania Wine Association in celebrating the foods and wines of the Pennsylvania harvest.

On Oct. 6, from 10 a.m.-4 p.m., Reading Terminal Market celebrates the Pennsylvania harvest with the first annual Harvest Festival.

Families are invited to climb on an authentic farm tractor for a hay ride around the Market, enjoy hot apple cider, paint pumpkins, and sample award-winning Pennsylvania wines and many of the wonderful local foods of the Pennsylvania harvest. Cooking demonstrations on preparing local harvest foods take place throughout the day at both Philadelphia Kitchen and in Center Court. Authors will sign copies of their latest cookbooks immediately after their demonstrations. Three Pennsylvania wineries will also be on site featuring specialty Pennsylvania wines as well as local growers with samples of specialty Pennsylvania meats, produce, and cheeses.

Well Preserved

Apples

The apple trees in Lancaster County are hanging full with beautiful colorful fruit. High quality apples can be enjoyed fresh most of the year. However, if you have access to an abundance of apples or if you prefer the convenience of having apples ready to use, you may wish to preserve some apples to use at a later date. Apple products may be canned, frozen, or dried.

Do canned apple products need to be processed since they are hot packed into the jars? Yes, the open-kettle method of canning is no longer used because harmful microorganisms can enter the jars causing spoilage. Apples may be processed in the boiling water bath or in the pressure canner. Processing times vary with the product.

Because apple butter, apple juice, and spiced apple rings only need to be processed for 10 minutes in the boiling water bath, the jars should be sterilized by boiling the empty jars in boiling water for 10 minutes before being filled with the hot food. Apple sauce and sliced apples require longer processing times—20 minutes per quart—so that the jars only need to be washed and clean before filling.

What suggestions are there for making apple sauce? Select apples that are sweet, juicy, and crisp. For a tart flavor, add one or two pounds of tart apples to each three pounds of sweeter fruit. Place drained slices in a heavy 8- to 10- quart saucepan. Add ½ cup water and stir occasionally to prevent browning. Heat quickly until tender. It will take 5-20 minutes depending on maturity and variety. Press through a sieve or food mill. Sugar may be added if desired. Using a sweet variety of eating apple may lessen the need for adding sugar.

To make a chunky sauce, coarsely crush half of the cooked apples with a potato masher and press the remaining apples through a sieve or food mill.

Then combine crushed and sauced apple mixtures. An even chunkier sauce is made by completely omitting the sieving process. Sauce may be canned or frozen. To can: reheat sauce to boiling and fill jars with hot sauce leaving ½ inch headspace, process quarts in the boiling water bath for 20 minutes. Try a spiced applesauce by adding ground spices, such as cinnamon, nutmeg or allspice to the sauce during the last 5 minutes of cooking.

What can be done to keep apple slices from turning brown before they are cooked? To prevent discoloration, keep apple slices in water with vitamin C made by mixing 1 teaspoon ascorbic acid crystals, or six 500-milligram vitamin C tablets in 1 gallon of water.

How can apple slices be frozen? Steam blanch sliced apples three minutes or place 6 cups at a time in one gallon of boiling water and blanch 1½ minutes after water returns to a boil. Then cool in very cold water. Add ½ cup sugar for every 4 cups of sliced apples and stir to cover all surfaces. Fill pint or quart size freezer bags to a level of 3 to 4 inches from their tops, squeeze out air, seal, and label. Bags may be placed into rigid plastic freezer containers for added protection against punctures and leakage.

More information about apples is available by calling you local extension office and asking for the publication, Let's Preserve: Apples.

Hinkletown Mennonite School Prepares For Auction

HINKLETOWN (Lancaster Co.) — Everything from food and crafts to quilts and collectibles will be sold at Hinkletown Mennonite School's 21st annual country auction to be conducted on Saturday, Oct. 13, at the school on Wanner Road near Hinkletown. The auction is just one feature of many during a two-day schedule of events conducted each year to raise money for the school.

The festivities will begin on Friday, Oct. 12, with a pig roast. Dinners including a roast pork sandwich, baked potato, baked beans, pepper cabbage or applesauce, cupcake, and drink will be available from 4 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. The meal will be available for take out or may be eaten under the big yellow-and-white-striped tent. For dessert, you can create your own ice cream sundae at the sundae bar. Friday evening is also an excellent time to preview the items to be sold on Saturday.

At 6:30 p.m. on Friday, a children's auction will feature Beanie Babies, toys, games, sports equipment, and other items of interest to school-age children. At this event, only children may bid; however, parents are invited to assist their children as they make choices. Adults may also keep busy by placing bids during a silent auction featuring certificates from local businesses. From 5 to 8 p.m., participants will bid on a variety of services from local garages, restaurants, and retail stores. Crafts and baked goods will be available to purchase and take home that evening as well.

A breakfast buffet will open the day on Saturday. Beginning at 7 a.m., pancakes, sausage, omelets, orange juice, and coffee will be served. Bidder registration starts at 8 a.m. Hundreds of donated items will begin to move over the auction block a 9 a.m. Quilts and wall hangings, crafts, household goods, lawn and garden tools, farm and automotive supplies, and much more will make this truly a 'something-for-everyone' sale. Special features include a John Deere lawn tractor, a multi-media home computer system, milk bottles from White Oak Dairy and H.R. Wentzel, $3,000 orthodontic services, and a child-sized battery-powered John Deere Gator and more.

At 11 a.m., certificates for local entertainment will be featured. Bidders may choose from options at Dutch Wonderland, Sight & Sound Theatres, American Music Theatre, Rainbow Dinner Theatre, Hands-On House Children's Museum, Hershey Bears tickets, and many others.

At 12:30 p.m., the auction will focus on art. Featured artists this year include Glenda Turley, Jim Lumbers, Mort Kunstler, Robert Bateman, Lena Lui, Elke Sommer, and Carl Brenders.

Quilts, wall hangings and other hand-sewn items pieced by friends of the school and local church sewing circles will be sold at 1 p.m. Quilt patterns at this year's sale will include Chimney & Cornerstone, Spin Star, Ocean Wave, Alabama Star, and Log Cabin, as well as many others. A wall hanging crafted from vintage feedsack fabric circa 1940 to 1950 will be a special feature this year.

At 2 p.m., class projects prepared by the students will be featured. Each class, from kindergarten through eighth grade, has been asked to create something to be sold. Items this year will include a reader's bookshelf, theme baskets, baked goods, and student artwork. Student representatives will be on hand to display their projects while they are being sold.

After 10 a.m. on Saturday, children are invited to make candy necklaces or key chains, ride the barrel train, or watch a video. Children's activities will include a visit from the Martindale Fire Company.

A variety of food items will be featured throughout the day on Saturday. Delicious smells from the food tent will tempt visitors to sample barbecued chicken, a salad bar, chicken corn soup, hamburgers, hot dogs, French fries, apple dumplings, soft ice cream, pies, and other baked goods. Root beer floats, sodas, and other beverages will be available.

Hinkletown Mennonite School is located at 272 Wanner Road, one-half mile north of Route 322 in Hinkletown. For more information, or to donate an item to the auction, readers may call the school at (717) 354-6705.

Tips To Keep The Pounds Away

BROOKLYN, N.Y. — Experts have weighed in to discover we only gain about a pound during the holiday season, not the dreaded five to 10 pounds we previously thought.

However, celebrating this information might hurt us in the long run. While we gain less, we are keeping the weight on. One pound a year is hardly notable, but over 25 seasons, is certainly noticeable.

The gradual weight gain also leads to the increased risk of diabetes and heart disease. The good news is that Butter Buds® has come to rescue the Easy Entertaining with a Healthy Twist recipe brochure. Better Buds products are made from real butter, but the fat and water content are removed to create a low calorie, low sodium product with no fat and no cholesterol. This brochure features dishes such as Black Forest Biscotti Trifle and Sweet n' Sour Three-Way Wontons adding flavor and variety to any holiday feast without adding the fat and calories. Butter Buds® can be used as a butter substitute in any recipe.

For a free copy of the Butter Buds® Easy Entertaining with a Healthy Twist recipe brochure, send a self-addressed stamped business-size envelope with two first class stamps ($0.68 postage) to: Easy Entertaining, Brooklyn Premium Corp., 60 Flushing Avenue, Brooklyn, NY 11205. Allow four weeks for processing.

Home Canned Gifts Are Special

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Penn State Cooperative Extension is offering a workshop on preparing home canned gifts.

Come and see some ideas for extra special home preserved fancy foods and nifty packaging tricks.

This workshop will be conducted on Wednesday, Oct. 24 from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and again at 7 p.m.-8:30 p.m. at the Farm and Home Center, 1383 Arcadia Road, Lancaster.

Preregistration is requested. Cost is $3, which covers demonstration materials and handouts. Call Penn State Cooperative Extension in Lancaster County, at (717) 394-6851 for information.

accolades she received by saying that promotion is a team effort and that she could never have done it alone. In her farewell walk down the runway, Mindy insisted that last year's two alternate state dairy princesses accompany her.

"We are a team in every sense of the word," she said of Alternates Heidi Miller, Dauphin County, and Emily Cloninger, Centre County.

Misty Claypoole, Armstrong County, received the runner-up Tina Shultz Memorial Award.

The pageant was conducted at the Four Points Sheraton, Harrisburg. For more than 45 years, the dairy princess program has furthered consumers' understanding of the importance of agriculture through promotional activities.

At the core of the program's success is Jan Harding, who served as executive director of PPDPS for 18 years, and its directors. During a special presentation at the banquet, Jan Harding and former directors Bev Minor and Wanda Yoder received awards.

Jan is retiring but will continue to serve as a consultant. Under Jan's leadership, dairy promotion was achieved by 612 county princesses, 513 county alternates, and 1,388 junior promoters, influencing a total of 2,513 young people.

As the new executive director, Junia Isiminger said, "I have big shoes to fill."

Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Becky Mowrer

In 1959, Bev Robinson (Minor) began her long association with dairy promotion. She is one of the founding leaders of PDPPS, who verbalizes a strong conviction on the importance of dairy promotion and has served on the board of directors. Now retiring, PDPPS recognized the important contributions she gave to the program.

Wanda Yoder, dairy farmer from Belleville, was also recognized for her many contributions as a coordinator. "Your compassion, calmness, smiles, encouragement, and prayers helped each girl more than you ever realized," Isiminger told her during the presentation.

In addition to compiling the best scrapbooks, Huntingdon County Dairy Princess Becky Mowrer and Dauphin County Dairy Princess Holly Miller performed award-winning presentations (skits), which touted the goodness of dairy products.

In her final appearance as Pennsylvania Dairy Princess, Mindy Sue Wolfe received the Tina Shultz Memorial Award for outstanding dairy promotion.

Becky's family includes grandparents Bernice and Horace Mowrer, parents Mike and Janet Mowrer, and siblings, Nathan, 18, and Abby, 14.

Jan Harding, center, holds the quilt picturing the state dairy princesses she "mothered." Harding is retiring after 18 years and was recognized for her outstanding leadership. With her are her children Jeff Harding, State College; Judy Ligo, Grove City; Jennifer Harding, Annapolis, Md.; and Jim Harding, Sarasota, Fl.

Wanda Yoder, right, and Bev Minor hold a corner of a blanket throw each was presented during a special recognition program at the banquet. Melinda Sue Wolfe, center, was the past state dairy princess.

- V-tank design delivers material to the auger fast.
- Heavy-duty round-core auger produces less drag.
- Double-acting hydraulic cylinder moves auger up and down to keep material flowing.
- Hydraulic gate and specially designed expeller give precise application control.
- Backed by a 10-year warranty against tank rust-through.

York County FFA Names Scholarship Winners

Heather Bankert, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bankert (Wayne and Sue) of 5282 Rippling Run Road, Red Lion, has been selected to receive the Carroll F. Thompson Scholarship. She was selected by the York County Vocational Agricultural Teachers Association to receive the scholarship which is given in memory of Carroll F. Thompson who was formerly a vocational agriculture teacher at Spring Grove and Dover high schools.

Bankert is a 2000 graduate of Red Lion Area High School and has completed four years of agricultural education. During her high school years, she participated in activities such as livestock judging, creed speaking, meats judging, dairy foods, apple judging, parliamentary procedure, record keeping, agricultural salesmanship, and leadership training conferences.

Bankert served as her local FFA chapter treasurer for two years and as vice president her senior year. She also served as York County FFA secretary during her junior year and as president during her senior year.

Bankert was also involved in sports and was a tutor for a life skills class in school as well as doing volunteer work in community organizations. She is currently enrolled as a sophomore student at Millersville University with plans of becoming a special education teacher.

Laurie Bish, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bish (John and Sally) of 88 Reynolds Road, East Berlin, was selected to receive the York County FFA Scholarship. Bish is a 1998 graduate of Dover Area High School and has completed four years of agricultural education.

During her high school years, Bish participated in activities such as public speaking, livestock judging, land judging, parliamentary procedure, dairy foods contest, meats judging, and leadership training conferences.

Bish served as her local FFA chapter parliamentarian, vice president, and student adviser. She also served as the York County FFA treasurer during her junior year and as president during her senior year. Following graduation, she was elected to be the Pennsylvania FFA secretary for a one-year term that she completed in June of 1999. She is currently enrolled as a student at the Delaware Valley College with an ag business major.

Other students who are also receiving scholarships from funds administered by the York County Agriculture Teachers are: Heather Crowl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Crowl (Ellis and Joyce) of 476 McCalls Ferry Road, Airville; Jennifer Eichelberger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eichelberger (Robert and Martha) of 24 Eichelberger Road, Airville; Angela Miller, daughter of Robert Miller and Mary Luckenbaugh of York; Stephanie Pomraning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Pomraning (Myron and Teresa) of 491 Slab Road, Delta; and Tony Resh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Resh (Tracy and Tammy) of 1895 Poplar Road, Dover.

The scholarship recipients must be a graduate of an agricultural education/horticulture program in York County who is continuing their education in a post high school institution with selection based on their future plans, financial need, leadership activities, and scholastic performance.

York County FFA Outstanding Members

Senior students from each of the York County schools with FFA chapters are eligible to be selected as the outstanding members of their local chapters. Each person receives monetary awards sponsored by the York County FFA.

A committee consisting of Pat Deibert, the Lincoln Intermediate Unit; Ed Heindel, of the York office of Farm Credit Services; and Leo Rutter representing the York Fair, selected the first and second place students from each chapter.

From these individuals placing first in their chapter, an overall county award winner was selected. The county award recipient is Stephanie Pomraning of the Red Lion Area FFA chapter. Pomraning is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Pomraning (Myron and Teresa) of 491 Slab Road, Delta. As part of her FFA experiences, she has had projects of dairy heifer, dairy herd, and off-farm work experience.

Pomraning served as her chapter sentinel during her sophomore year and served as the secretary of her local FFA chapter during her junior year. She was chosen for the York County FFA office of chaplain last year and treasurer for the current year. She has received numerous awards in York County contests such as dairy judging, dairy foods, apple judging, horse judging, and record keeping. She has also participated in state contests of dairy judging and dairy showmanship.

Pomraning has also been in the student council and national honor society in school as well as being involved in other community organizations.

First place winners of other chapters were: Daniel Myers, son of Wayne Myers, of 3850 S. Salem Church Road, Dover of the Dover chapter; and Mary Nell, daughter of Carl and Cynthia Nell of 260 Mt. Zion Road, Dillsburg, of the Gifford Pinchot chapter at Northern York.

Students also representing their chapters and receiving second place honors were: Danielle Shaffer, daughter of Gene Shaffer and Bev Shank of 160 Pawnee Avenue, Dover of the Dover FFA chapter; Shannon Tappen, daughter of Harold and Peggy Tappen of 1540 Ridge Road, Wellsville of the Gifford Pinchot chapter at Northern York; and Jessica Fisher, daughter of Todd and Betty Fisher of 665 Bahns Mill Road, Red Lion of the Red Lion Area chapter.

These outstanding students will be completing applications this fall in order to receive the Keystone Degree which is awarded by the Pennsylvania FFA organization.

Bradford Composting

TOWANDA (Bradford Co.) — Penn State Cooperative Extension in Bradford County and the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) will offer a composting workshop and free backyard composting bins to up to 150 Bradford County residents.

Penn State Cooperative Extension of Bradford County will hold the workshop on backyard composting on Saturday October 27 from 9 a.m. to noon at the Patterson Building, Guthrie Square in Sayre.

Each person who pre-registers for a workshop and attends will receive a free composting bin, composting pail, and a pair of composting gloves as long as supplies last.

To receive a bin and pail, you must pre-register by calling Bradford County Cooperative Extension at (570) 265-2896 by October 19.

WILLIAMSBURG (Blair County) — The Blair County 4-H and FFA Livestock Show and Sale had 84 buyers who spent over $59,500 on 153 animals. This year the sale included goats for the first time.

Donated animals raised $3,000. Eleven animals were sold for the scholarship fund, one for the banquet fund, two for the Children's Miracle Network, one for the General Fund and one for the Heifer International Project.

Chris Biddle of Williamsburg was awarded grand champion honors in the Beef Show which took place August 14 at the Martinsburg Memorial Park. Robert Mikesell judged the show.

Biddle's 1271 pound steer was purchased by Rich Hollingshead of Hoss's Steak and Sea House for $2.40/lb. Reserve champion winner was his brother Dakota, whose 1114 pound steer was sold to Dwight and Sherri Detwiler for the Giant Eagle for $1.80/lb. They are the sons of Mike and Tammy Biddle.

In the Swine Show, also judged by Mikesell, Valerie Smith, daughter of Gerald and Linda Smith, Martinsburg, won the grand champion trophy. Her grand champion hog was purchased for $5.50/lb by Bill Campbell for Bedford Ford-Chrysler.

Reserve champion swine honors went to Joey Byler, son of Conrad and Nancy Byler, Martinsburg. His winning hog was purchased by Carl Kalbach of Cove Shoe Co. for $3.00/lb.

Wade Rhodes won the hog carcass competition which was judged by Luke Vogel. The carcass was purchased by Fred Delgrosso for Delgrosso's Foods for $2.20/lb. The reserve champion carcass of Megan Byler was purchased by Phil Keith for Keith Orchard Lane Excavating for $2.40/lb.

The club pig money is being donated to Children's Miracle Network and Morrison Cove Livestock purchased the pig for $1.35/lb.

The Grand champion lamb award went to Julie Dell, daughter of Leon and Elaine Dell of Martinsburg. Her 122 lb lamb was purchased by Delgrosso's Foods for $4.75/lb. Matt Sellers from Somerset County judged the lambs and goats.

Zach Doyle, son of Chris and Barb Doyle of Altoona, was awarded the reserve champion lamb. His 95 lb lamb sold for $3.70/lb to Ted Bowers for First Union National Bank.

The club lamb was sold to Morrison Livestock for $1.35/lb. Members voted to donate proceeds to the Heifer International Project and to purchase a lamb for a needy family.

In the first ever Goat Show, grand champion honors went to Wade Harclerode, son of Don and Lori Harclerode, Williamsburg. His goat was purchased by John Mattilio of MLS Realtor.

David Bigelow, son of David and Patty Bigelow, Williamsburg, had the reserve champion goat which sold to John Favinger of Friends Farm for $3.00/lb.

Lancaster County Sponsors Horse Event

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — The County of Lancaster, along with 4-H Clubs, U.S. Pony Clubs and Therapeutic Riding Programs will host the second annual Pace Event on Sunday, Oct. 14.

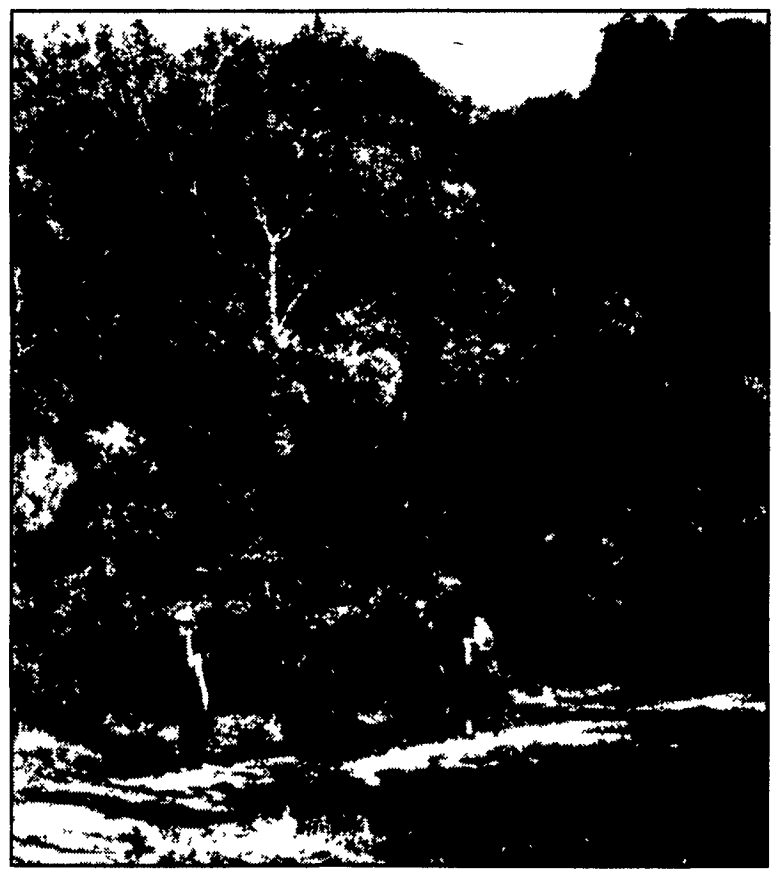
The ride will take place in Central Park, starting at City View Drive, beginning at 10 a.m. and ending at 3 p.m. The ride is a crosscountry equestrian event in which riders complete the course in a designated time.

This event includes optional jumps and travels over some of the most scenic trails in the 544-acre park. "We had more than 100 riders last year from all over central Pennsylvania," stated Commissioner Vice Chairman Howard "Pete" Shaub. "Most were surprised to see how large and scenic the park really is."

New this year will be a trail class in a riding ring for children ages eight and older. This class is also suitable for therapeutic riders. Additionally, children ages eight to 11 years of age may ride the Pace course, provided they are U.S. Pony Club members with a riding proficiency rating of D-3 or higher. They must also be accompanied by an adult.

The riding ring will also have pony rides available to the general public for a nominal fee.

Individuals under the age of 18 and all persons planning to jump obstacles must wear ASTM-SEI certified helmets; all riders need to sign liability release forms before participating.



Keeping Pace: The last two equestrian participants receive a friendly escort out of the Exhibit Farm Peninsula of Central Park by Lancaster City Mounted Police Unit Officer Mike Corso, after a beautiful fall day at the 2000 Pace Event.

There are four classes: slow pace (walk/trot), medium pace (trot/canter), fast pace (canter), and an endurance pace (trot/canter).

Lin Adds Touches Of Elegance

Linda Williams
Bedford Co. Correspondent

BEDFORD (Bedford Co.) — About 18 years ago Lin Finnegan was working as a day care manager when a friend who was refinishing some furniture asked her to help.

"I enjoyed it so much, I started my own part time business," Lin says. Four years later, she bit the bullet and opened her present day shop known as "Lin's Touch of Elegance". She jokingly says that she's been called the best stripper in the state.

The circa 1805 attractive stone building that houses the shop was once a pharmacy. There are scents of paint and varnish as you enter the well-stocked shop.

Lin is always available to help customers find that right piece for the right spot.

Unlike many antique shops which look for furniture in quality shape, Lin checks the construction. The finish is no problem. "We get our furniture from private sales and estates," Lin confirms.

"Often, someone will die and the heirs do not or are not physically able to deal with everything involved in cleaning out a house. We will totally clean the house, buy the antiques and even the junk that isn't any good. If it's usable, but not salable in my shop, we give it to someone who can use it," Lin explains.

With three full time employees, Lin finds it necessary to keep busy. She does shows all over the United States and in recent years became involved in Internet sales. "We can ship anywhere," she says. "It doesn't matter how big the piece is, we make custom crates."

"Internet business has its ups and downs, like everything else," Lin said. "There are months when I sell a Hoosier cabinet every week and then I might go several weeks without selling anything." She is presently working on a catalog of her inventory for the net.

This mid-1800s corner cabinet was once used as a paint storage cabinet in someone's basement. Lin removed the ugly green paint to restore it to its original finish.

Hoosier cabinets are her speciality. "They were originally built in the mid-1800s as baby changing centers," she explains. "They had a surface that was easy to clean and the diapers, baby clothes, and all other necessary items could easily be kept in one spot."

As the children grew and there was no use for the Hoosier, they were moved to the garage or the basement and used for storage. Since nothing was thrown away in those days, other uses were devised for the cabinets. Manufacturers picked up on the multiple uses and started equipping Hoosiers with flour sifters or rolling pin bins.

Some of the Hoosiers come to her in excellent shape, others need to be stripped down and completely redone. "People do like original paint," she said. "But the paint has to be original. Otherwise, it can devalue a piece."

For two years, Lin was a regular columnist for Americana Antique Magazine, a quarterly magazine distributed in six states. Her column was "Talk to Me."

"When customers come into the shop," Lin explained in one of her columns, "I say 'talk to me!'"

"Do you want to put a piece in a kitchen, dining room, bathroom or corner of the living room? I need to know desired location, room type, and it's function to help me generate the best options for customers' needs."

In order to expand her shop, she quickly learned to offer a wide variety of services such as reupholstering, repair or replacement part or pieces, wicker repairs, restoring trunks, lamp restoration, complete veneer work, restoring picture frames, or interior decorating.

"I love to decorate houses or rooms," she explains. "It is very satisfying to have a customer pleased with the results and happy to live with the pieces every day."

Her speciality has always been unique pieces such as desks, beds, dressers, tables, coffee tables, benches, bedroom sets, jelly cupboards, corner cupboards and parlor tables. She also offers smaller collectibles in her antique shop.

"I love what I do," Lin quickly emphasizes. "I must because I work 17 to 19 hours a day."

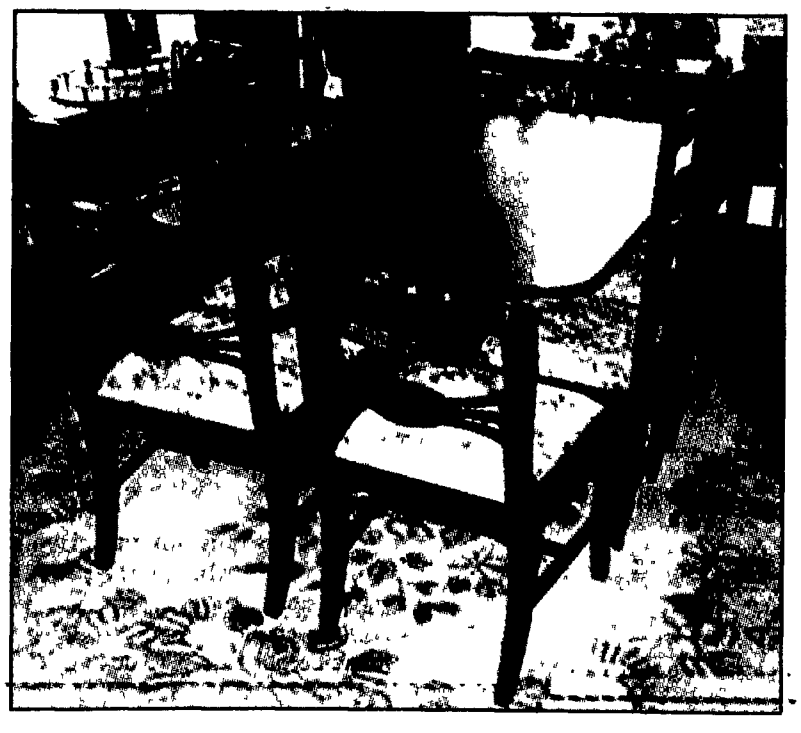
Bedroom with furnishings is estimated to be from the late 1800s to 1930s.



A Duncan Phyfe dining room suite from the 1940s features ladder back chairs and original dining room chairs refinished to match. Lin also did the reupholstering. At left, the walnut dresser vrom the lmid-1800s is one of Lin's favorite pieces.

Some Tiny Antiques Are Known As 'Objects De Vertu'

Little boxes can wear big price tags when they are called "Objects De Vertu."

Their usage and style may have changed over the centuries, from hand-painted enamel with precious gems or engraved gold snuff boxes or to miniature sewing kits.

In this century, names like Cartier and Faberge are familiar as creators of expensive objects with no particular purpose other to enchant their wealthy owners. A good example of an "Object De Vertu" would be a Faberge egg.

It all began between the 17th and 19th century when master artisans seeking royal patronage and support, worked to outdo one another, to create the most elaborate, small personal adornments.

It was in the 18th century, in Madame du Pompadour's day, when Renaissance goldsmiths working for the clergy first, and then royal courts, fashioned elaborately detailed gold and gem-studded boxes. Festooned with fantastic floral and classical designs, micromosaics and enamel, boxes grew more and more elaborate. This was due to "cagework" that allowed side panels to be independently decorated and then transformed into tiny works with exquisite details.

The popularity of snuff-taking led to the making of small boxes. Today, these early snuff boxes can cost thousands of dollars. As the habit filtered down to the middle classes in America, materials and designs became less elaborate. These were made in pewter tortoise shell and silver plate. These more humble examples sell for a few hundred dollars.

Boxes made for the wealthy ladies of the time included a variety of types mostly with a practical purpose.

Scent bottles also classify as Objects De Vertu. They became popular in the 18th century, reflecting the infrequent bathing rituals of the upper classes. Noibles drenched themselves to mask odors. One's style, wealth and taste, or lack thereof, was communicated by these small personal accessories. Boxes assumed far greater importance than the snuff they contained, both as diplomatic gifts and a reflection of a man's character.

Clues: Often oblong or oval in shape with canted corners to allow for classical columnar supports. Especially well known were the hardstone boxes made in Dresden. A famous Dresden maker, Johann Christian Neuber (1736-1808) was known for his cloisonne boxes inlaid with precious stones.

Some rare examples are on display at the Rinceaux Gallery in Palm Beach, running until the end of February. Among the more than 100 Objects De Vertu is a Freres Rochat singing bird box made in Switzerland about 1820, with its original movement and key. The painted floral still life on the oval lid opens to play a different melody with or without the bird.

It is also an opportunity to see the $600,000 gold, Japanned lacquer and tortoise "Necessaire a secret," circa 1785 that was a purported gift to Madame du Pompadour. Also of interest is a pair of enameled sterling musician figurals, made in Vienna around 1870 which appear to be dancing as they play.

Typical of the finest snuff boxes created during this time is a superb Swiss gold and enamel box made for the Ottoman/Turk market.

Prices for collectible Objects De Vertu range from $7,500 to $28,000 for small boxes to as high as $120,000 to $600,000 for the most historic items and those encrusted with diamonds and precious stones.

Even if few can afford these "Objects De Vertu," it's worth a visit to Palm Beach's Rinceaux Gallery — just in case you win the lottery and need a way to spend your money.

Discover Flea Market Treasures In Reading

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Find out what the antique craze is all about on GoodLife TV Network's Flea Market Mania, with Christopher Kent. Kent will be on location in Reading, Oct. 6-7, at the Berks County Heritage Center's 20th annual Heritage Festival. Kent will be providing free antique appraisals from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Appraisals will be videotaped for national broadcast on GoodLife TV Network, seen locally on Comcast Cable.

On Flea Market Mania, Kent uses his knowledge of antiques to provide guests with on-the spot appraisals of flea market bargains, family heirlooms, and dusty treasures found in attics and basements. Kent says Flea Market Mania is unique because, "without anything being staged, we give an honest and direct approach to providing informative entertainment."

Land Pride Introduces 8-Foot Primary Seeder

SALINA, Kan. — By utilizing small bushel boxes added to the main box, it is possible to seed three different types of seed at different rates with Land Pride's eight-foot primary seeder. This all new seeder offers you two main seedbox choices with an eight-bushel capacity.

The grass or grain seedbox, PS2096, can be equipped with standard fluted seed cups and agitation to seed most turf type grasses, as well as a variety of other seeds from peas to alfalfa.

A native grass main seedbox, PSN2096, is also available and is equipped with a picker wheel feed design, aggressive enough to feed fluffy, native grass blends. This box comes standard with an aggressive agitator to keep seed moving toward the meter.

An optional small seeds box uses a smaller version of the fluted seed cup for seeds such as alfalfa, clover and many other types of small seeds. A 4.8 bushel box, with similar seed cups and agitation used on the main regular seedbox, can be added to the native grass box.

White Oak To Mark 25 Years In Business

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster Co.) — Celebrating its 25th year of business this fall, White Oak Mills Inc. is pleased to announce its 25th Year Celebration to take place Saturday, Oct. 13, at the company's Elizabethtown headquarters and feed manufacturing facility, located at 419 W. High St., Elizabethtown, between 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., rain or shine.

A catered pork roast meal will be served throughout the day (10 a.m. to 3 p.m.). Mill tours will also be available to those interested in seeing White Oak's newest mill remodeling projects, and various vendors will be showing their support with interactive display booths.

Brothers Mark and John Wagner, who founded White Oak Mills in 1976 with the purchase of a small feed mill near Manheim, continue to own and operate the company.

If you are interested in attending White Oak's 25th year celebration, please RSVP by calling White Oak Mills customer service department at (800) 468-5524 by Friday, Oct. 5.

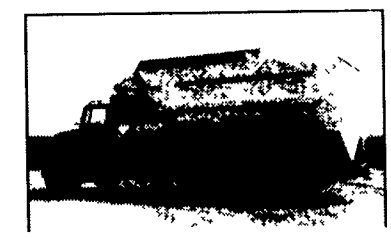
Knight Adds TMR Mixer

BRODHEAD, Wis. — Knight has added a larger, 950-cubic foot model to their commercial SDL Series mixers.

These units are built heavier and offer exactly what commercial dairymen and feedlot managers have been asking for: superior mix quality, dependability, and long life.

They offer a proven reel and auger mixing design, three-year warranted reel bearings and friction-welded shafts, and the heaviest flighting and hopper bottoms in their class. Four models are available, ranging from 500 to 950 cubic feet mixing capacity in trailer, truck, and stationary models.



Knight has added a larger, 950-cubic foot model to their commercial SDL Series mixers.

M.H. Eby Announces Dealer Awards

BLUE BALL (Lancaster Co.) — M.H. Eby, Inc. has named the recipients of its Dealer Sales Achievement Awards for 2000.

The awards were presented at the 2001 Eby dealer meeting recently at the Embassy Suites Hotel in Columbus, Ohio.

During the two-day event, attendees toured the Eby Ohio manufacturing plant and offices in nearby West Jefferson, Ohio. There they viewed an extensive display of Eby agritransportation equipment and attended technical seminars that were conducted by several factory representatives on components used in the manufacture of Eby trailers.

Following a gala banquet, the following awards were presented for Top Dealer Sales Volume:

- Gold Award: Hayes Livestock Supply and Trailer Sales, Russellville, Ky.

Woods Equipment Company Names Messick Farm Equipment One Of Its Top Dealers

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster Co.) — Woods Equipment Company has named Messick Farm Equipment as one of its top 10 dealers, in recognition of the dealership's performance in selling Woods mower, implements, and attachments.

Headquartered in Elizabethtown, Messick Farm Equipment carries a full line of agricultural and landscape equipment, including Woods' products designed for use on tractors and skid steer loaders.

"This award represents our appreciation for our top dealers who have demonstrated their loyalty and support for Woods products over the years," said David W. Ferguson, vice president and general manager, Woods Ag & Turf and Parts. "We're proud of our solid relationship with Messick Farm Equipment."

Headquartered in Rockford, Ill., Woods Equipment Company is a leading full line manufacturer of attachments and implements for the lawn and landscape, agricultural, and construction markets.

We have Hillco units in stock that we can mount on 2166, 2188, 2366, or 2388 combines.

NOW EVERY FIELD IS FLAT

"We used to have all John Deere equipment, but Hoober demonstrated the Case IH sidehill combine in our barley, and we were really impressed We liked the leveling system, especially how it levels up to 27% on hills Last year, we were ahead of schedule with the 2 sidehill combines from Hoober, compared to what we did the year before with 3 John Deere machines And, we couldn't be happier with the service we get from Hoober – those guys really do their homework "

Mitchell Mauser ~ Wehry's Brothers Hog & Grain

The Case IH Sidehill Combine From Hoober Makes a Great Combine Better By...

- Increased Capacity • Improved Sample Quality
- Excellent Levelling Performance
- Operator Comfort

HILLCO

Ask a Hoober salesman to run an evaluation program for your operation to show how this sidehill unit will pay for itself with increased productivity.

TWICE AS STRONG

- Double-decker design is twice as strong as cutters with a single deck
- The clean bottom deck promotes better airflow for better cutting/distribution.
- The top deck is domed. Water and grass roll off, preventing water buildup and rust.
- Available in 5- to 14-foot cutting widths, for mid- and heavy-duty applications

Built To Outlast.

It's mind-numbing, back-breaking work Loading bales Working crops Tilling, mowing, raking, baling and the list goes on. It'll grind you to the bone – and take an average tractor down hard But Massey Ferguson 4200 Series tractors deliver unmatched performance, durability and comfort to keep you going long after others give out The long-stroke Perkins Fastram™ diesel cranks out high torque, even when RPMs drop Powertrains range from manual shift to high-output PowerShuttle. Dual-system hydraulics, a beefy linkage and new lift geometry generate optimum lift Even the hydraulic filter never quits – just wipe it clean every 1,000 hours and keep on going And touches like an adjustable spring-suspension seat, adjustable tilt steering and more mean you'll last as long as your Massey Ferguson 4200

No Compromise.

Tested by mire

Our skid steers have always been working models. Tested and retested in real-world applications, driven by proven hydraulics, and powered by the most trusted name in diesel engines (ours), their vertical-lift design is completely down-to-earth.

Yet, their advances in productivity, serviceability, and reliability mean they're poised to remake an industry.

Try one, today.

Proud to be an American.

We are proud of our new national heroes; the police, firefighters, and volunteers at each of the attack sites.

Our heartfelt prayers and condolences go out to family and friends of all of the victims.

Our motto has been "Our Trusses Bear Up" and in this tragic time, "Our Country Bears Up."

Sincerely,

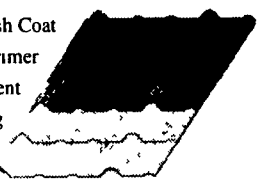
Metal Roofing & Siding

The Ultimate G-100 Process

"The Best"



1. Valspar 10S Finish Coat
2. Epoxy Primer
3. Zinc Phosphate Pretreatment
4. G-100 Zinc Coating
5. Full Hard Steel (80,000 min yield)
6. Heat formed, less paint cracks
7.
Everlast II

NOTE! It is more important what is under the paint than what you see on top!

1. One of the best paints, superior acid rain, cracking resistance and color retention.
2. Primer coat: promotes outstanding top coat adhesion.
3. Zinc phosphate pretreatment. This is a very important process - if your current supplier cannot supply you with this or does not know, you should reconsider
4. G-100 Galvanized· Most metal roofing has approx 40% less galvanized under the paint. G-100 is more galvanized than most unpainted panels.
5. Full Hard: Anything less than full hard will bend easier, lower snow loads, etc.
6. Heat formed: Metal is painted before ribs are formed. Most paint cracks at bends, heat forming greatly reduces cracks. (check metal siding that is installed for 5-10 years).
7. Stronger design, superior strength, more metal per L F.
8. Add Everything Together And Price Should Be $53.37 Per Square $1 69 Per L.F.

OUR SPECIAL PRICE ONLY

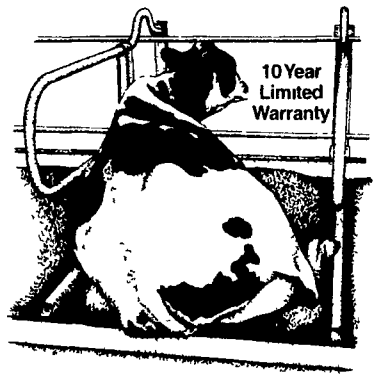
Waterbeds for Cows



The ALANTA Waterbed for cows is a revolutionary product, comfortable, safe and hygienic. It clearly improves your cows' well-being and therefore promotes higher milk production. It is the ultimate stall floor covering for the modern, animal-friendly dairy farm.

WELL MADE
The ALANTA Waterbed is made of two rubber layers with a water-filled compartment in between. GD-Enerka gives a 10-year guarantee.

COMFORTABLE
The waterbed molds itself to the cow's shape. It's cool in summer and pleasantly warm in winter.

SAFE
Thanks to the non-slip rubber upper surface, the cow is gripped firmly and cannot slip off. In this way the ALANTA waterbed keeps damage to hooves to a minimum.

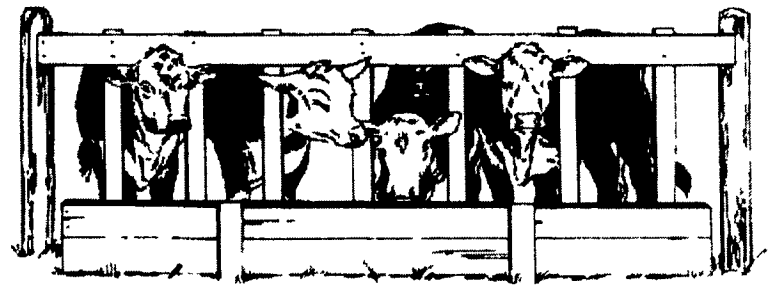
BEEF TIPS

Now is time to buy beef cattle



Record high prices for beef cattle this year have subsided some with prices expected to go back up this fall and winter due to record low availability of replacement cattle. Now is the time to buy.

Simmental breeders are now weaning this year's calf crop. Within a month, many of them will be sold or committed to a market.

Call for a FREE directory and map of ALL Simmental breeders in your area. Courtesy of:

Your Dairy Herd
Call us today for a feeding program built to fit your Dairy Herd and your Production Goals.

For maximum performance and income over feed cost rations should be balanced to provide the optimum levels of degradable and undegradable protein, nonstructural and structural (fiber) carbohydrate as well as minerals and vitamins This allows for maximum utilization of the rumen microbes and total ration efficiency Because your needs may be different from your neighbor s, we adjust the following nutrients and ingredients to fit your needs and goals

- Amino Acids
- Protein
- By-Pass Protein
- Energy
- Fiber
- Calcium
- Phosphorus
- Salt
- Vitamins & Trace Minerals
- Organic Trace Minerals
- Multi-Protein Sources
- Added Animal Fat
- Rumen Inert Fats

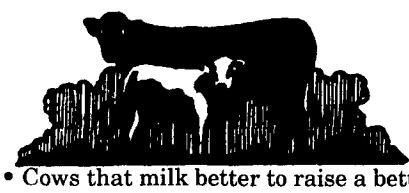
SWEETCAKE 16NU
FEED SUPPLEMENT BLOCKS FOR THE LIVESTOCK INDUSTRY
• High Natural Protein • No Urea • Fat Enhanced
• Balanced Supplementation • Safe For All Livestock Classes

Sweetcake Advantages
- Aids in making the best use of your available forage
- Promotes a more even herd consumption, with 24-hour availability to all cattle
- Reduces labor to save you money and give you more time to make important management decisions
- Supplies much-needed vitamins and minerals that forage lacks to help your cattle perform to their genetic potential
- Supplies fat in most formulations to enhance energy intake

For Dairy

- Replacement heifers that grow out soundly and economically
- Body condition on dry cows so they can return to lactation, producing at the maximum potential
- Healthier herds, with essential trace minerals that help prevent metritis, retained placenta and other health problems
- Prompt re-breeding, thanks to essential nutrients

For Beef


- Stronger, healthier calves at birth
- Heavier Calves at weaning
- Cows that cycle better for improved conception rates
- Cows that milk better to raise a better calf

- AVAILABLE IN 200 LB. SIZE -

Dauphin Co.: 82 Acre Beef and Poultry farm is a good investment for any serious buyer. The Organic egg contract is an excellent money maker and a first rate building with only the 2nd flock in the building which is just over 1 year old. What's best is the building is fully automatic and temperature controlled even if you aren't there. The land is very fertile with all the manure there is little or no fertilizer required for excellent crops. A private setting with silo's for the cattle operation and a very comfortable farm family residence. Serious buyers call for a private showing.

Union Co.: 31 acres of the best limestone soils in the valley just west of Lewisburg. Build your own house and horse barn or poultry house or maybe even a veal setup. A fresh water stream runs along the southern border and can be fenced for part of the full stream for your use.
